FEDERAL BODY TO ACT IN COAL FREIGHT FIGHT

Answer Will Indicate Stand of Interstate Commerce Commission

ASK FOR LOWER RATES

Quarrel Involves Southern Non-union Operators and Eastern Union Mines

Copyright, 1927, by Post. Pub. Co.

Washington—How far the interstate commerce commission is willing to go in suing its authority over railroad rates so as to control economic conditions between different sections of the country probably will be demonstrated by its action on the petition of Southern Railway for permission to reduce their charges on coal destined for Great Lakes ports for transshipment by boat.

It may be that the commission will find a way to act on three proposed new schedules in such manner as to base its action on grounds which will avoid the issue in the blunt form here, in set out; but those directly affected will view the matter without circumlocution.

Involved in the issue, as now presented to the commission, is a bitter struggle between bituminous owners of the unionized coal fields of Ohio and Western Pennsylvania on the one hand and the operators of non-union mines in West Virginia, Virginia and eastern Kentucky on the other. A conflict of interest which was responsible for the failure of the senate last winter to confirm the nomination of Cyrus E. Woods, of Pennsylvania, as a member of the interstate commerce commission, to mention only one of its unusual phases.

INDICATE DISAPPROVAL

The fact that the commission in its latest decision in the lake cargo case, which it has just rendered, has indicated its disapproval of the possibility that southern carriers might reduce their rates on coal, and advised against it, may indicate to some, disapproval of the schedule just filed, but no formal action has been taken. If the new southern rates are approved the Pennsylvania-Ohio coal operators will find themselves with an empty victory.

More than two years ago, the soft coal shippers of Ohio and Pennsylvania began a fight before the commission for a greater advantage in railroad freight rates on coal to lake ports, thence to be taken by boats to Duluth-Superior and other docks for distribution throughout the north-west. Their complaint was that the non-union mines of the southern fields could ship coal right by the Ohio mines to the lakes and were taking the northwestern market because of lower production costs.

The commission handed down a decision refusing to change the 25 cents-per-ton differential between the two fields, then a rehearing was secured. The terms of commissioner F. L. Cox, who had voted against a change, expired and southern coal operators opened a fight against the appointment of a Pennsylvania, Judge Woods, which ended with rejection of his nomination. The place finally was given Ezra Brainerd, Jr., of Oklahoma.

ALLOW REDUCTION

On reconsideration of the lake cargo case, the commission six weeks ago handed down a decision directing railroads serving the Ohio and Pennsylvania operators to reduce coal rates to lake ports 20 cents per ton, thus widening the difference between the northern and southern fields to 45 cents per ton with a few other minor readjustments.

In this latest decision the commission mentioned the fact that the northern soft coal mines, paying union wages, were having difficulty in holding business, pointing out how many miners had been laid off for months in Friday, Pa. Thus the commission recognized the principle of economic conditions in adjusting railroad rates.

The southern field operators immediately declared their markets and miners would suffer if they could not compete with lake cargo coal, with the result that the principal carriers of the southern territory voluntarily have filed new rate schedules, reducing charges 20 cents a ton and thus absorbing the differential ordered by the commission in the northern field. That there is a strike in the unionized fields is of only temporary concern in this freight rate battle.

The lower rates ordered by the commission are to be effective Aug. 10. The question now is whether the commission will refuse permission to southern carriers to cut their rates voluntarily, and thus insist that the northern mines shall have a greater share of the northwestern coal market, insofar as railroad rates can influence the situation.

MANITOWOC BOY SAVES YOUTH FROM DROWNING

Manitowoc—(P)—Roy Elmer, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Elmer, this city, rescued a boy from drowning at Keweenaw, Wis., Sunday. Elmer leaped into the water when he saw the lad fall and it was necessary to form a human chain to get the boy to shore after Elmer had given twice to bring him up. Both are safe.

CONVICTS HOLD WOOD "ALKY" SPREE; 3 DIE, 7 MAY LOSE EYESIGHT

McAlester, Okla.—(P)—Wood alcohol stolen from the paint shop at the state penitentiary here Monday had taken the lives of three convicts and left several others in a serious condition. Warden J. O. Newell said prison authorities first discovered a wood alcohol orgy had been staged Saturday night when Robert Barnett, Joe Wilson and J. D. Williams were reported ill Sunday. They were removed to the hospital where they died within a few hours.

Although an investigation was started at once one of the men would give any information as to how the alcohol was obtained. Dr. J. W. Echols, prison physician, Monday said seven convicts are suffering from alcohol poisoning. All who survive probably will lose their eye sight, he declared.

SACCO AND VANZETTI GO TO DEATH CELLS

Vanzetti Breaks Hunger Strike but Sacco Still Refuses Food

Boston—(P)—Entering the week in which his fate is expected to be decided, Bartolomeo Vanzetti convicted with Nicola Sacco of murder Monday appeared to have abandoned the hunger strike which he had carried on two weeks. Vanzetti accepted milk, coffee and bread served him for breakfast at the state prison Monday. Sacco continued to refuse all food.

Vanzetti also accepted the prison lunch Monday but Sacco persisted in his refusal to touch the food.

The convicted men were moved from their cells in Cherry Hill section of state prison to the death house Monday morning.

With them went Celestino Maderio, sentenced for another murder, but reprieved until the Sacco case is settled upon his confession that he committed the payroll robbery and murder at Braintree for which Sacco and Vanzetti are condemned.

As these preparations went forward, Gov. Fuller, interrupted in preparation of his decision Saturday by the sudden illness of his son, announced he has resumed work on the decision and will positively have it ready Wednesday night.

Sunday afternoon 5,000 gathered on Boston Common, and half remained through a downpour of rain to listen to various speakers who made Judge Webster Thayer, who conducted the trial and condemned the men, and Dist. Atty. Julius Katzman of Plymouth and Norfolk counties who prosecuted them, the targets of bitter attacks.

STARTS ON SKATES FROM GREEN BAY TO CHICAGO

Green Bay—(P)—A small crowd witnessed the start of the non-stop Green Bay to Chicago roller skating trip which is being attempted by Phillip Dato, 19, of Iron Mountain, Mich., champion speed and fancy roller skater of the northern peninsula. Dato started at the city limits here about 4 o'clock Monday morning accompanied by two automobiles. He expects to cover the 215 miles in about 30 hours, a record time for long distance skating.

$50,000 LOSS WHEN MINE TIPPLE BURNS

BULLETIN

Steubenville, Ohio—(P)—The tipple of the Summers mine of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company near Adena, was burned early Monday morning with a loss estimated at $50,000. The mine was being cleaned preparatory to resuming operations on Friday. The fire was discovered by Charles Brown, foreman of the mine.

The figure of a miner in effigy was found hanging from a tree in Adena Monday.

About 20 mine workers picketed were on Adena streets Monday morning but there was no further disturbance.

Nearly 70 Gave Flowers To Sick Last Saturday

Between sixty and seventy stops were made by Appleton Post-Crescent Flower Cars Saturday morning to collect flowers which generous Post-Crescent readers had offered for patients in Riverview sanatorium and St. Elizabeth hospital about 150 bouquets were collected, just about enough to assure flowers for patients who otherwise would have little or nothing to lighten their sickrooms over the Sunday.

SEE NO CHANCE FOR SUCCESS OF ARMS MEET

Meeting Set for Monday Postponed to Thursday but Delegates Seem Hopeless

Geneva—(P)—The deadlock in the naval conference was the subject of a long talk Monday between Viscount Ishih of Japan and W. C. Bridgeman, first lord of the British admiralty, but so far as known, nothing has taken place which reduces the risks of the conference failing. After his talk with the Japanese statesman, Mr. Bridgeman conferred with the representatives of the British dominions.

The activity of the Japanese is creating the impression that either they are seeking to suggest some compromise or they are getting ready to suggest adjournment of the conference without holding the public plenary session which has been definitely fixed for Thursday.

That nothing short of a miracle can prevent a break-up of the three power naval reduction conference before the weekends, either by a quiet agreement among the delegates to separate or by a showdown in the plenary session Thursday was the general impression prevailing here.

The fact that the plenary session, called for Monday was postponed was particularly upon by commentators as a victory for the "treaty at any price" party, which has adherents in all three delegations. But the postponement was not at all to the liking of the experts of the British and American delegations who are said to realize that there can be no reconciling of the British and American viewpoints and to feel that nothing can be gained by the delaying tactics.

JAPANESE SEEM SATISFIED

The Japanese, thanks to whose mediation it appears the breathing spell of two or three days was obtained, seem satisfied. They feel that nothing should be left undone, because in their opinion if Great Britain and the United States separate without an accord on limitation and if the latter particularly starts big building program, Japan would be hard put to follow suit.

Among a number of nationals of countries which are not participating in the conference, the opinion is frankly expressed that the conference is being allowed to drag on too long.

The week-end saw a quickening of individual efforts to effect some sort of compromise on the crucial cruiser problem, on which the fate of the conference hinges, but nothing developed to warrant even the slightest optimism. There were talks between Viscount Ishih, and W. C. Bridgeman and between the viscount and Hugh S. Gibson, head of the American delegation after which Mr. Gibson conferred individually with Mr. Bridgeman and the other chief British delegate, Lord Cecil.

BRILLION PHOTOGRAPHER INJURED IN AUTO CRASH

Manitowoc—(P)—Arthur Neumeyer, Brillion photographer, was badly injured, full extent of his injury having as yet been undetermined at the hospital here, when his automobile was overturned at Francis Creek last night in a crash in which three cars were involved.

Mr. Neumeyer, who was in the car, was bruised and with her husband pinned under the car, but was not seriously hurt. Neumeyer was unconscious when brought here but it is believed he will live.

CHAMBERLIN MAKES FLIGHT FROM SHIP

Tests Possibility of Combining Steamship and Airplane Routes

U. S. S. Destroyer Lawrence—(P)—A new chapter in the history of aviation was begun Monday when Clarence D. Chamberlin hopped off from the Levanthian in his Fokker biplane and headed for Teterboro Heights, N. J., which he reached after a brief stop at Curtiss field, N. Y.

The hop-off, a beautiful one was made at 8:14 The Little Fokker sped down the improvised runway on the boat deck of the flagship of the United States line, gripped the air at once, and within a second or so was doing a circle over the big line.

There was fog ahead of the Levanthian but Chamberlin headed into apparently good weather. It was estimated that the Levanthian was 82 miles off the Battery at New York when the hop-off was made. The passengers could be seen waving from the decks and a buzz of excitement could be noted on the ship of the convoy as the little Fokker sped down the runway and took the air. The hop-off was made from a runway made of planks set forward off the liner's forward funnel.

Ascension was made by use of blocks which held the plane in position as the motor attained a speed that would insure a take-off. Chamberlin manipulated his plane so that it leaped the blocks and the flight was on. The purpose of the flight was to test the feasibility of having planes take off from liners at sea, thus cutting off many hours from the ship's voyage time. Passengers and mail could thus be taken ashore much in advance of the arrival of the ship.

UNION SYMPATHIZERS BEAT NON-UNION

Dover, Ohio—(P)—One non-union miner was shot and wounded and fourteen others were beaten when 200 union sympathizers attacked the non-union men on their way to the Maple Leaf coal mine at Newport, near here Monday.

The attack occurred on a narrow road between Dover and the mine, according to W. C. Roberts, mine superintendent who was severely beaten.

Roberts said the union sympathizers left their automobiles and began beating the non-union men with clubs and fists. John Vesco, 56, of Waverly, was the only one who was not hit. He was brought to a hospital here with a bullet wound in the hip and side.

John Harder, Jr., non-union miner, was charged by the attacking force with having shot Vesco and was arrested but after release when no one appeared to prefer charges against him.

The Maple Leaf mine normally employs about 50 men and has been operating on a non-union basis for more than a month.

SENATOR SAYS FARMERS CLING TO HAUGEN BILL

Rapid City, S. D.—(P)—Farmers are clinging to the McNary-Haugen relief bill pending the presentation of an adequate substitute, Senator Capper, Republican, Kansas, leader of the "crusade farm bloc" reported upon his arrival here Monday for a conference with President Coolidge.

Allis Leads Field In First Day Of State Tournament

Overcoming odds that caused others to founder on the way, "Ned" Allis, Milwaukee Country club star and defending champion, was practically assured of medalist honors in the state amateur golf tournament qualifying round Monday.

Completing the difficult Butte des Morts course in 72, one over par, Allis led his nearest rival, Morgan Manchester, Maple Bluffs club, Madison, by seven strokes. The two men were the only golfers from an original field of 100 to get under 80 for the eighteen holes. Qualifying rounds for another hundred will be held Tuesday.

Ken Dickinson, Appleton, 1925 state champ, and "Buster" Beck, Sheboygan, state open champion, both of whom are favorites in the tournament, found themselves on common ground with unimpressive 87's. Both ran into trouble at every turn, seldom shooting anything near par golf. In a practice round Sunday, Dickinson went around in 72.

Qualifiers were still coming in but only a few consistent 80 shooters were in the group. Less than fifteen men had completed the 18 hole test under 80 up to 2 o'clock.

Phil Dickinson, a brother of Ken, turned in an 82 and George Campen, Eau Claire, had an 80, a stroke behind Manchester.

Phil Dickinson's 82 was two strokes better than his nearest Appleton competitors, D. W. Bergstrom, J. N. Fisher and H. H. Felker.

A high wind made the game particularly difficult Monday morning. Following are the scores turned in

SEVEN HURT IN 2 ACCIDENTS HERE MONDAY

Man Falls 100 Feet Inside of Grain Silo—Six Fall Off Scaffold

Adolph Loga, 27, of Ladysmith, Wis., was seriously injured Monday morning when he fell 100 feet inside a grain silo while at work with a Rissman Construction Company crew engaged in tearing down buildings of the Wisconsin Malt and Grain company on N. Superior-st.

Loga fell from the wall on which he was standing. Fellow workmen heard him scream, but no one saw him fall. He landed on a mass of broken boards and stone dislodged in the process of tearing down the buildings. Both legs were fractured and his back was broken, it was said.

Workmen on the job were unable to reach Loga and they summoned the fire department. Although the walls were only a few inches thick, the fireman managed to scale them and erect a platform on top. Then Fred Holz of the fire department was lowered into the vat with two workmen. When it was found impossible to lift Loga with a strap, because of his back injury, a fire department stretcher was lowered and Loga secured to it and then raised 100 feet to the top of the building. From there he was lowered down the outside of the building to the ground and taken to the hospital in a Kunitz ambulance.

EMPLOYER STRICKEN

Mr. Rissman, manager of the wrecking company, suffered a heart attack when he learned of the accident and was taken to the hospital where his condition was pronounced critical Monday noon.

The home office of the Rissman Wrecking company is in Milwaukee.

Six men were injured Monday, three seriously, when a scaffold on which they were standing while working at the Wisconsin Michigan Company's garage addition, broke and plunged them to the ground. The men were employed by the C. R. Meyer Construction company of Oshkosh.

The men were placing a steel lintel over a window when a steel plate and a channel iron riveted to it broke loose and plunged through the scaffolding, carrying the six men to the ground in a confused mass of wreckage. Some of the men were hit by the steel plate while others were merely bruised by the falling scaffolding.

Those injured were:

William Hartley, 38, of 3643 Harriet-ave, Minneapolis. He has a compound fracture of the left leg between the knee and ankle.

Robert Koyser, 63, 216 School-st. Oshkosh; three ribs dislocated on right side and right leg bruised below the knee.

Lewis Hoyman, 37, 205 3rd-st., Neenah; cut on forehead and left leg bruised.

Isadore Liron, 22, Little Chute, fracture of the left arm between the elbow and shoulder.

Chris Aert, 51, Wrightstown, cut on head and left leg bruised.

Steven Aert, 20, head bruised.

World Will Face Rubber Shortage In Three Years

New York—(P)—Consumption of raw rubber is increasing so much rapidly that production that the world will face a shortage of crude rubber in three years, in the opinion of William O'Neill, president of the General Tire and Rubber company of Akron, Ohio, who called early Monday on the Aquitania to study the rubber situation in England.

Because of the natural increase in the demand, manufacturers are agreed on this point, differing only as to when a shortage will be felt, he said.

This year has witnessed a gain in the industry of approximately 15 per cent over 1926, he said, pointing out that the trade as a whole is using more crude rubber.

Measures taken to increase the yield, including new planting and discovery of the bud-grafting system, will have no effect on the situation for eight years, Mr. O'Neill said.

From 1920 to 1924 there was not enough new planting done to take care of the increased demand, he asserted.

Mr. O'Neill said that rubber manufacturers do not expect Thomas A. Edison's experiments to have an appreciable effect on the situation.

"I don't say that he can't get a plant that will produce rubber," he explained.

This he said, is because discovery of a plant in America that would grow new and yield three times as much rubber as the best producers in the straits settlements still would leave production costs prohibitive because farm labor receives $5 a day as compared to 20 cents a day in the straits and other rubber producing centers.

12 WISCONSIN PEOPLE KILLED OVER WEEKEND

Eight Die in Car Crashes, Two Are Drowned and One Breaks Neck in Fall

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Twelve persons lost their lives Saturday or Sunday in accidents and drownings with automobiles playing the leading death role, accounting for eight lives.

This was the total arrived at Monday in a check-up by the Associated Press. In addition to the eight persons killed in automobile accidents, two drowned, one woman was killed by a train and an aged man was killed when he fell into a ditch while picking berries in northern Wisconsin.

Milwaukee—(P)—A police check-up of week-end traffic accidents in Milwaukee and vicinity showed two deaths and a score of injured.

Jack Splitlick, 26, West Allis, and Regina Wlodarski, 6, were the victims.

Splitlick was injured fatally when his automobile collided with another machine on Highway 14, a few miles from the city limits Sunday. He died at a Milwaukee hospital Sunday night.

The six-year-old girl was killed when a machine driven by her father, Frank Wlodarski, overturned near Big Bend. The child's neck was broken.

James Williams, Jamestown, N. Y., motorcycle racer, is in the hospital with a skull fracture received when his machine plunged through the board fence during the races at State fair park Sunday. Williams is in a critical condition.

Many persons were injured less seriously in minor accidents.

3 DIE AT MADISON

Madison—(P)—Three men were killed and several injured in a series of automobile accidents here Sunday, Wisconsin Sunday. The dead are: James O'Neill, 40, Ridgeway; Christ Melksperger, 26, Plain; and James Saunders, 45, Gratiot.

O'Neill died in a Madison hospital Monday morning from loss of blood, the result of gashes received in an automobile collision near Arena. He was picked up by a bus driver and taken into Manassas, from where he was brought to Madison by car.

Melksperger met death in an accident near Spring Green, when the car he was driving was crushed between two other automobiles when he made an attempt to pass one of them. The cars were coming from opposite directions when Melksperger's light coupe was "scissored" in between.

Saunders was crushed when his automobile upset at a turn in the road near Darlington. Glenn Benson, Gratiot, who was riding with Saunders, escaped with severe cuts and bruises.

KILLED IN TRAIN CRASH

Janesville—(P)—Mrs. Ruth C. McClay, 2, was killed instantly at midnight Saturday a few blocks from her home in Saron, when her car was struck by a C. & N. and North Western milk train.

DROWNED IN DEEP HOLE

Wausau—(P)—A heavy weight champion fight in Soldiers field September 15.

After the board voted its favorable action Rickard made the positive announcement that the fight would be staged in Soldiers field the date he named, or the next night in event of rain.

Chicago—(P)—Tex Rickard made his first definite move in the open to start the "Tummy Tompney" heavyweight championship fight in Chicago next month when he appeared before the South Park board Monday afternoon to ask permission to use Soldiers' field as the scene of the battle. The board has control of the stadium.

Reports were that Rickard was prepared to offer $150,000 for the use of the stadium, scene of the Army-Navy football game last fall.

Montreal Officially Welcomes Englishmen

Montreal—(P)—Montreal Monday gave a warm official welcome to the Prince of Wales, Prince George, his brother, and Stanley Baldwin, premier of Great Britain. Cheering crowds lined the streets all the way from the hotel to the city hall, where the visitors were officially received.

The reception was held in the hall of the hotel where the walls were decorated entirely with union jacks, the French tri-color for once being absent. The crowd in the hall was so dense that the police had to link hands to force the eager spectators back from the passageway leading to the dais.

Mayor Martin extended his official welcome to both the Prince of Wales and Premier Baldwin in French.

Discover Loot, Ammunition; Moonshine, Burglary Tools in Cache

UNCOVER HUGE STILL

Raid Follows Discovery of 3 Men Hijacking Store at Langlade

Antigo—(P)—Joseph Born, 35, Chicago, dead, and Tom Osterman, 30, Sebeling, and Harmon Smith, 20, Milwaukee, are in jail awaiting a hearing Monday as a result of a raid on their camp headquarters, nestled in the woods about 10 miles north of Pearson, Langlade-co, Saturday.

Born was killed by Deputy Sheriff Frank Jones, late Sunday afternoon. When he went to the farm home of Luther Roe, who was telephone call from Mrs. Roe that the man had forced his entrance. The deputy argued with the fugitive for some minutes and then when Born suddenly reached under his pillow for a gun, Jones fired. Born was rushed to a local hospital but died enroute.

The discovery of the camp came about when the three men were discovered hijacking merchandise from the Langlade Lumber company store at Pearson by Manager Frank Cleveland. Cleveland gave chase when the thieves fled and following them to a point near their camp returned for Sheriff Jones.

The sheriff and his deputies surrounded the camp and demanded the men surrender. At the challenge Born rushed to one of the three automobiles in camp, seized a weapon and fled to the woods. The sheriff and a deputy followed, firing at the fugitive as they went. They followed until their guns were emptied and succeeded in wounding the man in the right leg.

FORCES WAY IN HOUSE

When he came to the Roe farm house, Mrs. Roe was alone. She caused himing to flee and when he forced his way into a bedroom where he was found by Deputy Jones. Mrs. Roe fled to a neighbor's house and called the sheriff's office.

The officers brought several truck loads of loot from the camp Sunday. The camp was evidently the headquarters for a gang engaged in moonshining, burglary, highway robbery and thievery. More than 1,000 rounds of ammunition was found in the camp together with a quantity of nitroglycerine, burglar tools and a vast amount of loot.

About a quarter of a mile from the camp the authorities discovered a liquor still and about 800 gallons of mash. Three automobiles were in camp when the raid was made, one a large touring car and a truck with Illinois license plates, and a sedan with a Wisconsin license believed to have been stolen in Milwaukee.

LAVA FROM VESUVIUS THREATENS VILLAGE

Naples, Italy—(P)—A stream of Molten lava menaced the town of Terzigno, Monday morning as the blazing fluid, following a new explosion, burst within Mount Vesuvius, overflowed from the "valley of Hell" into the ravines leading toward the bay of Naples.

Resumption of the volcano's disquieting activity, fulfilling the worst fears of the members of the observatory staff, came after a lull of more than 24 hours. Beginning Sunday morning when the lava having filled the "valley of Hell" rose above the dikes erected to check its flow into the valley and then began to run down the paths toward Terzigno.

Despite the fact that the movement of the lava stream was comparatively slow, a large section of the population of Terzigno and neighboring region began to flee towards Naples at dawn.

CHARGE SEINING CREWS KILL LAKE VEGETATION

Fond du Lac—(P)—Charges that seining crews who are cleaning rough fish out of Wisconsin lakes and streams, including Lake Winnebago, Beaver Dam lake and the Rock river, are also destroying the vegetation to such an extent that it will be impossible to propagate game fish are being investigated by the state conservation commission.

Members of the commission have visited the seining crews of Jerry Kerwin of Fond du Lac, who is taking the rough fish out of Rock river in the vicinity of Horicon. The commission approved Mr. Kerwin's methods, it is said. Beaver Dam lake, which it is charged, was being cleaned by inexperienced crews, has been damaged as a breeding place for game fish, the vegetation being destroyed, and it will take several years before the lake is again restored, it is said.

LEGISLATORS' BID FOR FAME HANGS ON THEIR "BEER" BILLS

Fifty-eighth Session One of Most Expensive in State's History

Madison — (AP) — The closing session of the Wisconsin legislature, probably the most expensive and next to the longest in history, made its bid to fame through votes on beer, bank taxation, bus regulation and conservation.

The "beer bill" by Assemblyman Thomas Duncanson, Milwaukee socialist, which would have modified the state's dry laws to permit liquor of 2.75 per cent alcoholic content was passed by both houses of the legislature, but vetoed by Governor Fred R. Zimmerman. The legislators refused to override his veto. Another attempt to make Wisconsin wet was in the form of a bill to wipe out the states prohibition law and abolish the prohibition department. It failed in the senate.

Following the decision of the United States supreme court in the federal "Hawford Bank Case," relating to the taxation of financial institutions, the legislature revised the state's method of collecting revenue from the banks to assessment of their income instead of their capital stock.

In the matter of conservation of natural resources, the 58th session appropriated approximately three quarters of a million dollars for large new state parks, three in number, reserving only one of the suggestions for a new state park area.

REGULATE BUSES

It passed bills allowing differentiation between cut-over lands those being reforested and those used for agriculture, that those owning reforested lands might pay less tax and replacement of trees might be encouraged.

It decided that the present one-man commissioner form of governing the state's care of forests fish and game should be superseded by a six-man, non-salaried commission and his body has been appointed.

The state's public utility regulating body, the railroad commission, was formerly unable to regulate the bus companies now operating in all parts of the state. Its only lever upon them was a license, which rarely was revoked. The legislature empowered the commission to regulate the rate and route schedules of the companies and govern the loads and speed of the carriers.

Most of the legislature's business was finished Saturday night. A few of the members were left to receive messages of approval and from the governor and adjourn sine die.

FRUIT FOR CANNING IS QUITE PLENTIFUL

Blueberries and Peaches Have Unusually Good Season, Dealers Say

Fruit for canning is generally plentiful and reasonable in price, according to Appleton grocers. Peaches will be fine this year and blueberries will be unusually good, it was said. The blueberry crop from Michigan where many of the Appleton dealers get their berries, will not be harvested before August 1.

Only about 40 per cent of the usual apple crop will be picked this year. In all sections of the country apples are scarce, it was learned. Cherries likewise have had a small crop. Probably less than 50 per cent of the usual crop will be harvested. No cherries have been grown this season in and near Appleton. People who ordinarily have had a bushel from their trees, this season picked 15 or 20 quarts. The Dozore cherries are more plentiful than any other crops, but even they have been less plentiful than past seasons.

A fair crop of raspberries has been evidenced but the dry weather the past week has practically stopped picking. In about a week home grown tomatoes will be on the market for canning. Truck farmers have reported many tomatoes that are growing well but have been slow in ripening. The potato crop will be large this year providing some blight does not get at them before harvest time.

Sugar has remained about the same as last year, selling at about 7 1/2 cents a pound.

CHURCH REPRESENTED AT LOMIRA CAMP MEETING

Representatives of Emmanuel Evangelical church will attend the annual meeting of the Milwaukee district of the Evangelical church at Lomira during the next two weeks. The Women's Missionary Society and the Young Women's Missionary circle conventions will be held from August 5 to 8, and the Sunday school, Evangelical Christian Endeavor league, and state missionary conventions will be from August 8 to 14.

Mrs. Amos Greb is delegate from the Women's Missionary society, and Miss Gladys Albright from the Young Women's Missionary circle. The Sunday school will be represented by Mrs. Breitrich and Mrs. Zyletra. Miss Mabel Duval will be the delegate from the Christian Endeavor league. The Rev. and Mrs. J. E. Niemietz and their daughter Miss Hilbert Niemietz, state missionary secretary, will attend the missionary convention.

The Rev. C. E. Maves of Milwaukee, presiding elder of the Milwaukee district, will have charge of the annual meeting of the church district. The Rev. C. E. Ralsh of Neenah, vice president and the Rev. A. E. Harper will be in charge of the young people's meetings. The Women's Missionary society meetings will be directed by Mrs. W. Haurwas of Milwaukee.

Lacerates Finger
Fred McGuire, employed by the Patterson Plumbing Co., lacerated several fingers on his right hand about 10 o'clock Monday morning, while unloading pipe at the company building at 212 E. College-ave. Several pieces of pipe slipped from the load and fell on his hand.

THREE INDICTED FOR MURDER

Three people have been indicted for one of the most brutal murders in Louisiana's criminal history—the slaying of James J. Leboeuf of Morgan City. Leboeuf's body was punctured so it would sink in Lake Falarde. Police charge the murder resulted from a love affair between Dr. Thomas Dreher (left) and Mrs. Ada Leboeuf (above) widow of the slain man, James Beadle (below) was lured by Dr. Dreher to kill Leboeuf, authorities charge. The pictures were taken when the three were indicted.

WINNEBAGO CROSSED IN MARATHON SWIM

Californian Spans Lake for First Time in History, It Is Said

Oshkosh—The 16 miles of water between Calumet Harbor, on the opposite side of Lake Winnebago, and Menominee park here was spanned by a swimmer for the first time at 7:31 Saturday evening when Myron Cox, 25-year-old marathon swimmer, touched shore and the cheers of thousands of spectators who had watched his progress since 9:37 in the morning when he started.

Although the swim was not officially timed nor the distance measured by A. A. L. authorities, Cox and his friends believe he has set a new world's record for long distance swim. Assuming that the distance between the starting point at Calumet Harbor and Menominee park is 16 miles, Cox swam 1.65 miles an hour, or one-third of a mile faster than the present official record.

WISCONSIN GROCERS CONVENE AT MERRILL

Merrill, Wis., — (AP) — Wisconsin grocers, members of the state retailers association, will meet here for their annual convention Aug. 15, 16 and 17. The Merrill city hall has been offered as a "meeting house."

Mayor A. R. Wittman will preside at the opening session and will extend a welcome to the delegates in behalf of the city. The response will be made by Emil H. Waack, Manitowish, third vice president of the association. W. A. Tomek of Two Rivers, state president of the organization will have charge of all the meetings.

Relations between newspapers and merchant trade will be discussed Monday afternoon. W. B. Chilsen, editor of the Merrill Daily Herald, and C. C. Nelson, president of the Retail Publishers' Inc., will address the convention at that time. The general discussion Tuesday will center on cooperative advertising and cooperative buying. E. R. Berdes, president of the Oshkosh Retail Grocers' Association will lead the discussion. A question box will be opened during the afternoon with requests for information from members in an attempt to provoke further discussion.

The election of officers and selection of the city for the 1928 convention will follow the reading of reports Wednesday afternoon. The retailers' executive board will meet and adjourn at the conclusion of the convention, followed by a meeting of the newly elected executive council.

"HEART" TAG DAY NETS $394.81 FOR V. OF A.

June Kufman was awarded first prize of $5 for collecting the largest amount of money in the "Heart" tag day contest Saturday under the direction of the Volunteers of America. A total amount of $394.81 was received by the organization to be used in helping families of prisoners. Miss Kufman sold $35.35 worth of hearts. Miss Dorothy Ehke was awarded second prize for selling $22.55 worth of hearts and Miss Phyllis Ornstein had $19.55 and received third prize. Fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh prizes were won by Elizabeth Hensch, Ruth Harris, Jean Potter and Marie O'Dell. Other children who sold hearts were given two theatre passes.

DRIVER FINED $10 WHEN POLICE FIND 4 IN FRONT SEAT

Little Chute Young Man Learns What Constitutes Reckless Driving

Driving with four people in the front seat of an automobile constitutes reckless driving, as Oliver Gehring, Jr., of Route 1, Freedom Road, Little Chute, found out in municipal court Monday morning. He was fined $10 and costs of $3.40 on the complaint of Officer Ratke that two couples were sitting in the driver's seat of his car, in which he was travelling south on S. Cherry-st. The arrest was made at 9 o'clock Sunday evening.

James Ownes, 126 Madison-ave., Pittsburg, Pa., pleaded guilty in municipal court Monday morning to a charge of speeding 33 miles per hour on S. Cherry-st Saturday afternoon. He was fined $10 and costs of $3.20 by Judge Berg.

Fred McMaier, 79, Otto-st., Oshkosh, pleaded guilty to a charge of drunkenness and was fined $10 and costs of $3.20 by Judge Berg Monday morning. He was arrested Saturday evening on W. College-ave by Officer Ratzman.

Howard Parker, who lives near Black Creek, was fined $10 and costs of $5 on an assault and battery charge in municipal court Monday morning. Parker was arrested on complaint of Carlton Zuehlke after assaulting Zuehlke following a collision between automobiles the two men were driving. Another charge against Parker, that of driving while drunk, was dismissed.

AIRPLANE VICTIM STILL IN HOSPITAL

Allen Tellock of Marion, who was seriously injured in an airplane accident at Marion several weeks ago, will not be able to leave St. Elizabeth hospital this week as was thought a few weeks ago. He still is confined to bed, it was reported.

Mr. Tellock's spine was fractured, an X-ray examination showed. He was reported in a favorable condition. He also suffered a fracture of the arm, a dislocated elbow and abrasions and bruises about the body.

Attends Convention
Arnold Feltz, rural mail carrier on Route 6, is in La Crosse attending the State Rural Letter Carriers' convention. The convention is being held the first three days in August.

CIGARET BLAMED FOR DOWNTOWN FIRE

Tar in Roofing on Bowling Alleys Ignited by Careless Smoker

Guests at Hotel Appleton were nervous spectators of a fire Sunday night which did slight damage to the roof of the Arcade bowling alleys, 119 N. Appleton-st.

A guest in the hotel is believed to have thrown a lighted cigarette stub on the roof of the two-story adjoining building. The stub set fire to melted tar used as a base for "fireproof" roofing and quickly spread to a wooden walk beneath a clothes reel on the roof. The walk and the reel were damaged but only slight damage was done to the roof.

An automobile belonging to P. C. Moore was slightly damaged Saturday night when a short circuit in the car caused a fire. Moore tried to extinguish the blaze with water, making at worst, but the department ended it with chemicals.

An overheated chimney on the two story residence owned and occupied by G. M. Hurley, 330 S. River-st., Monday morning resulted in a call for the fire department. The blaze was extinguished with little damage being done.

KIWANIANS EXPECT TO SEE CONVENTION FILM

GENEVA CONFERENCE MAY BRING ABOUT NEW UNDERSTANDING

Nations Are Unwilling to Stand Expense of Greater
Navies

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Washington—Regardless of any temporary bitterness engendered by disagreements at the Geneva arms limitation conference, it is more than possible that the ultimate outcome will be an understanding between the English-speaking peoples which will head off a new and unprecedented race for naval supremacy.

At any rate, there are many persons in the United States and Great Britain are bright enough to suspect that such a solution would be more desirable than a building contest involving frightful expense and perhaps eventually terminating in war.

If the Geneva meeting fails and causes an Anglo-American rift, the need for agreement will be all the greater.

There is good reason to suppose that a program which would establish two nations on a basis of friendship and co-operation would not be frowned upon by this government. Leaving other considerations aside, it might appeal to British public opinion, which knows the United States could out-build her if the race should come to that kind of a showdown.

BRITISH-U. S. PACT WISE
It is rather to be assumed that the people of this country and of the British Empire would welcome an agreement designed to eliminate the possibility of war between the world's two greatest powers. Such a war is often declared "unthinkable," but history reveals that power moves westward along with civilization and that up to the present time war has not continued process. Now that the world is for the first time pretty well in the hands of peoples who speak the same language, the time may have come to call the turn on history's repetitive trend.

Far-sighted men have long since suggested the wisdom of an Anglo-American understanding as a potent factor for world peace and international happiness. The idea has not been confined to mere theorists and comparative nobodies.

Now, with the demonstration at Geneva that from a purely strategic standpoint based on geographical limitations and dissimilarities of interest the United States and Britain find it hard to agree on standardized shapes and sizes for their respective navies, the world echoes more than ever before with plans for measures of safety such as some once felt would be achieved through the League of Nations.

Ambassador Houghton apparently had an Anglo-American agreement in mind recently when he proposed, without mentioning names, reciprocal pledges in which contracting nations should agree not to attack each other for 100 years. He tied up this suggestion with a plan to limit wars to those declared by popular vote.

HOUGHTON PLAN SUPPORTED
J. L. Garvin, distinguished editor of the London Observer, now comes out for a treaty such as Houghton proposed and points out that "where there is agreement about policy there can be no disagreement about armaments."

If it is true, as some persons here believe, that the governmental brains of the two nations have been figuring on such an agreement all along, and that Houghton's speech was sort of a trial balloon or way-nigger, light is then shed upon the motives which inspired Foreign Minister Briand of France some time ago to propose a 100-year Anglo-French treaty to out-law war.

JUST "SMOKE SCREEN"
Some of the anti-imperialist noise-makers here have privately expressed the opinion that the row at Geneva is a "smoke-screen" preparatory to an Anglo-American alliance which will result in a division of spheres of influence.

Such a view seems rather extreme, but despite lack of official confirmation there is a likelihood that in case the Geneva conference breaks up in a threat of a new international armament race something will be done to stop it before it gets underway. Pow-

$50,000 ADDITIONAL FOR CARE OF LOCKS

An additional allotment of $50,000 has been made for maintenance of locks and dams on the Fox river, according to an announcement made by the War department. A. F. Everett, United States engineer at the navigation office here, stated. The money will not be used for any special purpose but for the general care and operation of the dams and locks.

SISTER OF NOVELIST WINS NATIONAL PRIZE

Ripon—(P)—Psychologists who have been trying to answer the question whether marked ability runs in families found some affirmative proof at Ripon college when Marjorie Westcott, a sophomore, and sister of Glenway Westcott, noted novelist, was selected from a field of more than 50 competitors as the best prose writer of the year.

The winning selection, which was judged by such critics as Warner Taylor, professor of English at the University of Wisconsin, was entitled "Jenny Holbrook," and was written noticeably in the style of Miss Westcott's brother. Her writings have also appeared frequently in the Scribner, literary magazine here.

Glenway Westcott, whose recent novel, "The Apple of the Eye," is acclaimed as one of the literary masterpieces of today, is now a resident of Europe, but visited his sister at Ripon college during Christmas holidays in 1926.

erful influences from the international bankers down to the ordinary citizen, would support any government which undertook to keep the beanpot flat on its bottom.

APPLETON'S CHANCES DIM FOR POSTOFFICE

If Budget Allows It, Schneider
Will Again Try to Get Building

Appleton's chances for a new post-office building rest entirely with the director of the budget, according to Congressman George J. Schneider and Postmaster F. F. Wettenkel.

The schedule for public buildings in the United States is divided into certain divisions, and no money has been appropriated by congress for buildings in the classification in which the Appleton postoffice is placed. The bill appropriating the money failed of passage in the last session of Congress due to a filibuster.

The budget director will not make public his recommendations until Congress meets in December and until the amount available for buildings is known, any action taken toward securing a new building for Appleton in the near future would be useless. However, if a sum of money is appropriated at the next session of Congress for public buildings, every effort will be made by Mr. Schneider to secure a $300,000 slice of it for a new Appleton postoffice, he said.

STATE PROHIBITION DEPARTMENT BUSY FIRST HALF YEAR

Six Hundred Successful Raids
Conducted by Wisconsin
Officials

Madison—(AP)—The work of the state prohibition department for the first six months of 1927 was reviewed Monday by the department head, Roland W. Dixon.

Mr. Dixon said that despite the decreased appropriation with which the department had to work, it has had a successful term since January 1. The survey period ends with last June 30.

As a form of saving, the department eliminated one of its cars, only one of the prohibition agents' machines now being detailed to the home office. There are now seven prohibition department cars, he revealed.

SIX HUNDRED RAIDS
These automobiles have carried prohibition agents of the state on six hundred successful raids since the first of the year, according to Mr. Dixon. The raids have been on soft drink parlors and saloons where stills were found in operation.

Although courts have generally been out of session in the last few weeks, being in summer recess, he said, there has been since the first of the year, $200,000 worth of fines imposed on liquor law violators brought in by state agents.

The department men have taken 111 stills, varying in size from small copper wash boilers with corks in their lids, to the big four hundred gallon still taken in February at Tomahawk, Wis.

LIQUOR IS DESTROYED
The department agents have destroyed $2,500 gallons of grain and sugar molasses that were setting about in various places raided. Cases where more than a gallon of moonshine was obtained in the raids brought more than 3,000 gallons of the illicit liquor to the hands of the agents. This was all destroyed with the exception of small portions that are used for testing and for court evidence. In cases where only a gallon or less of the moonshine is taken it is all obtained for tests and evidence, the prohibition head explained.

In addition to the raids of the state agents there have been 365 liquor samples submitted by local officials to the state dairy and food department chemists through the state department. These, Mr. Dixon said, have resulted in many ad convictions.

County Clerk Now Must Keep Track Of Chickens

It won't be long until the county clerk will know how many game cocks, laying hens, baby chicks and other fowl there are in Outagamie county.

County Clerk John Hantschel has received instructions from the Wisconsin department of markets that he is to notify all poultry dealers that they are to register annually with the county clerk and to keep permanent records of all purchases of poultry made by them.

Edward Nordman, commissioner of the department, states that the law was passed by the last legislature and is intended to put an end to chicken stealing, which caused losses of thousands of dollars annually to the farmers of Wisconsin.

ALL MUST REGISTER
Essential features of the law are: Annual registration of poultry dealers with county clerk.

Permanent record by dealer of all purchases of poultry by him.

Penalty upon dealer for failure to observe the requirements.

Penalty upon seller for giving false name or address to dealer.

The full text of the law follows: "A new section is added to the statutes to read: (1) It is unlawful for any poultry dealer to purchase any live or dead poultry without registering annually with the county clerk.

"(2) Every poultry dealer shall keep a record of all purchases of poultry made by him showing in detail the place and date of purchase, the name and address of the person from whom the purchase was made, together with a general description of the kind of poultry purchased. Such record shall be kept in permanent form and be open to inspection at all reasonable times to any district attorney, assistant district attorney, sheriff, deputy sheriff or any police officer.

STIFF PENALTIES
"3" Any poultry dealer, his servant or agent, violating any of the provisions of this section shall, upon the first conviction, be punished by a fine of from $10 to $100. Upon a second or subsequent conviction by a fine of from $25 to $500 or be imprisoned in the county jail for not more than 90 days, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

"(4) Any person selling poultry to a poultry dealer who gives falsely his name or address to such dealer, his agent or servant, shall be imprisoned in the county jail for not less than 30 days nor more than one year."

MANY NEW TEACHERS SIGNED BY SCHOOLS

One Third of County Positions to Be Filled by Newly-signed Instructors

Nearly one third of the teachers in the county schools, outside of Appleton and Kaukauna, either will be in new positions or will be teaching school in Outagamie county for the first time this fall, according to A. G. Meating, county superintendent of schools.

Of the 176 teachers in the county—excepting Appleton and Kaukauna—119 will teach in rural schools. Of these 119 teachers, 31 will be new teachers and 29 will have changed positions. In the village schools, six of the teachers will be new to the county and there will be holdings new positions.

Three school districts in Outagamie county will have new buildings constructed by the time the fall term starts. They are located at No. 5 Center, No. 1 Grand Chute, and No. 3 Dale.

Through the efforts of Meating, the number of schools having the minimum term of 8 months has been cut in half. This year, there will be about ten schools with eight month school years, compared with 20 last year. All of the remainder will have the nine month school year as recommended by state school authorities.

BUSINESS IS BRISK AT PUBLIC LIBRARY

Business at the Appleton public library has been rushing this summer, according to Miss Florence C. Day, librarian. Usually there is less reading in the hot weather than in the winter months but there has been little slack this year. Less reference work is being done than when schools and clubs are closed but magazine and book reading is being done extensively.

Many persons have taken out books on the vacation privilege which allows them to be gone until after Sept. 1. In other years large numbers took advantage of the opportunity to read while away from home but even more have borrowed the volumes this year.

WHAT TO EXPECT
FRIEND: Why did you send that dish back if there was nothing wrong with it?
SCOTSMAN: Well, mon, if ye gie the impression that ye're no satisfied wi' the service the waiter'll no expect such a big tip.—Passing Show.

BRITAIN'S RESPONSIBILITY

President Coolidge has let it be known from the summer capital at Rapid City that the government of the United States will view with grave regret failure of the naval disarmament conference at Geneva. More than this he has let it be known that he views with extreme disappointment the attitude of Great Britain. Under no circumstance will the United States agree to the British proposals touching cruiser and destroyer tonnage. The president directs international attention to the fact that he called the conference to bring about reduced and not increased naval armament. The British program, if carried out, represents naval expansion which would require extensive construction. If the conference fails responsibility will rest upon Great Britain.

The unofficial expressions from the summer White house represent an eleven-hour attempt to save the Geneva conference from disaster. The president does not undertake to say what the United States will do in the event the conference fails and Great Britain builds her cruiser and destroyer strength to from 600,000 to 750,000 tons. That congress will respond with naval enlargement seems probable and yet we do not believe the United States would enter into a race with Great Britain for naval supremacy. That course would not seem to be necessary or advised. No matter what Great Britain does we can amply defend our country against attack by a conservative policy. Furthermore, the possibilities of war between the two countries are so remote as hardly to be taken into account. We will not, and we need not be so foolish as to burden ourselves with military expenditures, because Europe rejects disarmament.

The worst feature of the failure of the Geneva conference will be the moral consequences, and they will be deplorable. This nation will be disappointed in the British nation. It will tend to destroy American confidence in the good faith and integrity of Great Britain. It will tend to negative much of the effort put forth in the last decade by the diplomatists and statesmen of the two countries to improve their relationships and promote friendly understanding. We shall not as a government or a people feel as well disposed toward Great Britain as we did formerly, while the prejudices that have always existed against her and which are intensified on the least occasion, will be augmented. England cannot afford these results much less than the United States; in fact, we do not think she can, afford them at all. The greatest international security that can exist is assured amity between these nations. Because of our superior resources, geographical situation and powers of self-maintenance we stand to suffer less by an unwise political or military policy, as well as by estrangement. If Great Britain wrecks the Geneva conference she will make an egregious mistake, the effects of which may do her incalculable harm.

THE FRANC AGAIN

Regardless of reports from various quarters that international bankers are now discussing the possibilities of France's return to the gold standard some time in August, it has been learned on good authority that Premier Poincare has told his intimate friends he does not intend to stabilize the franc yet as he fears the responsibility of such action in case bad repercussions in economic and industrial conditions resulted.

The political situation in France, never too stable, is not very calm at the present time and is not in a favorable condition for any change. Added to this, there are a number of important financial steps that will be necessary before stabilization is advisable. Since Premier Poincare is also minister of finance he is too well acquainted with the situation to permit himself to be maneuvered into a false position.

International conversations relative to the return of France to the gold standard were held, but to date nothing definite has been accomplished nor is there any indication to that effect.

Poincare is in a peculiar position. Personally he would like to see stabilization take place at the earliest possible moment and yet he so clearly realizes the dangers as well as the benefits that might accrue that he is almost over-cautious. He has observed with interest Mussolini's vain attempt to change the economic laws that govern finance and there is no doubt that he is going to be very sure of himself before he makes any move at all in the direction he wants to go.

SOMETHING TO BE THANKFUL FOR

The legislature has adjourned. For that we should be thankful. It has not much to its credit, and nothing to justify a session of seven months. Most of the time has been wasted in politics and incompetency. It is probably the lightest of the light-weight legislatures of recent years.

It did nothing toward reforming administration of state affairs in the interest of economy and efficiency, although loudly called for. It refused to wipe out burdensome sinecures. It did nothing to put public business and expenditures under a budget system. It confessed itself unqualified to deal with taxation. It did not even move toward scientific reconstruction of Wisconsin's vulnerable tax system, by authorizing an impartial investigation. It paid no attention to the recommendations of the interim committee or of the governor. These failures are inexcusable. They constitute an offense against the people, and a shameful disregard of legislative duty.

Reorganization of the conservation commission is commendable, and is of much importance to the state, but the bill was passed only when the governor threatened to call an extra session if it was defeated. There were of course other acts of merit, like the automobile licensing law, but they are few and far between. Essentially, it was a do-nothing legislature. It might have done better with firmer executive guidance, we do not know. The best that can be said of it is that it has come to an end.

PRINCING IS HARD WORK

The Prince of Wales comes to Canada as the royal family's representative for the diamond jubilee birthday celebration of the dominion.

After the official ceremonies at Ottawa, the prince will hie him with his chosen cronies to his E-P ranch near High River, Alberta, where he forgets that he is Prince of Wales, and becomes plain farmer.

It is on this ranch that many prize-winning live stock beauties are raised under the prince's instructions. It is here that, clad in khaki knickers, and a five-gallon topper, no one dares address him as the prince.

This is his vacation time—a time he looks forward to as eagerly as any $25-a-week clerk.

Just a reminder that the monotony of princing can get as monotonous as the job of clerking.

OLD MASTERS

My fairest child, I have no song to give you:
No lark could pipe to stars so dull and gray;
Yet, ere we part, one lesson I can leave you
For every day.

Be good, sweet maid, and let who will be clever;
Do noble things, not dream them all day long;
And so make life, death, and that vast forever
One grand sweet song.

—Charles Kingsley: A Farewell.

M. Poincare, French wartime president, said in a speech the other day that in the matter of guilt it is well to distinguish between the German people and their rulers. Well, well, the wars were over.

Mme. Schumann-Heink, just back from Europe, is 65 years old. She'll sing with the Metropolitan Opera Company this season and plans a tour of 70 concerts. Our only suggestion is that she get Chaucery Dextw to help her out with the songs.

A novelist wants to bring about a "big" America. He declares the practice is due to fear. When we have the next war, we're going to let the Pullman porters do our fighting for us.

August Bruckner, 72, the philharmonic, says vigorous clapping of the body adds to long life. Depending, too, on whom you slap.

Now they're saying the Dempsey-Sharkey fight was framed up. We are waiting to hear that the Prince of Wales falls off his horse on purpose.

A New York man, 58, gives as one of the rules of longevity, "Do all business on a cash basis." In other words, don't worry.

Love comes once to us all, but the poet or other. He never wrote THAT at a dinner resort.

A Minnesota town held a business contest. At last a chance to put young brother's ear to something useful.

Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author
Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Writer's names are never printed. Only inquiries of general interest are answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamped self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Requests for diagnosis or treatment of individual cases cannot be considered. Address Dr. William Brady, in care of this paper.

KEEP YOUR FEET AND CONSCIENCE DRY
In the winter time I devote much of my energy to the nefarious business of assuring everybody there is no harm in getting the feet wet. In the summer time I counsel about the same amount of energy trying to help people keep their feet dry. As for the conscience, that should be kept bene dry the year around.

A certain amount of sweating is good for the feet. It keeps the skin clean and soft and smooth. But when the feet sweat too much one suffers discomfort, embarrassment and even disability, and there is no good reason why one should not check or suppress the sweating of the feet—that is, the checking of the sweating in an area of skin not larger than the area of the feet outside of Chicago can do no harm in any way. Some agents employed for the purpose may do harm by irritating the skin.

Many sufferers blame the heat wholly for their discomfort from this source. It isn't the heat, it's the staidity. When we view the general fashions in footwear we can only wonder that the feet protest so little. Recent styles in feminine footwear achieve one great boon for the ladies, for they are practically barefoot, and after all, going barefoot is the best possible treatment for whatever ails your feet. But the blessing so conferred is attended with a curse, to wit, the irrepressible attachment of a fastidious high heel shoe to the otherwise commendable sandal or moccasin effect. This still walking is all very well for an occasional game, but the girl that tries to keep up on stilts all the time has a sad reckoning coming, not necessarily foot suffering, but one or another of the many abnormalities brought on by bad posture.

In most cases of annoying sweating of the feet it is due to taking the remedial measures: (a) go barefoot as much as possible, especially outdoors; (b) fit your shoes to your feet, not your feet to the fashions or fads of the moment; and (c) sprinkle freely in the shoes plain talcum (such as the powder used in tire casings) or borated talcum powder. In more obstinate cases increase the dose of measures (a) and (b) and instead of (c) use this salient powder:

One part of salicylic acid ..... 1 dram
Two parts of boric acid ..... 2 drams
Two parts of tartaric acid ..... 2 drams
Forty parts of zinc oxide ..... 5 ounces
Forty parts of talcum ..... 5 ounces

A more potent application, if available, is a solution of one dram of salicylic acid and one-half ounce of glycerin in three ounces of grain alcohol or bay rum. This should be painted on the soles once daily and allowed to dry on. Or if you have a properly equipped medicine cupboard in your home, an occasional sprinkling of boric acid powder in shoes and in the stockings will be beneficial.

When your relations threaten to leave home and your friends try to evade you, then measure (c) must take care of the aroma as well as the dampness, and you must use a powerful agent, and use it with care. Formaldehyde comes in a standard (37 to 40 per cent) solution. Put an ounce (1 ounce) of it in a half pint bottle and fill it up with water. Paint the soles with your solution once a day for a week or 10 days, allowing it to dry before putting on stockings.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Ringworms
What causes ringworms? Are they contagious? How can I get rid of them on baby 18 months old? (Mrs. E. A.)
Answer—Ringworms are parasites of the fungus type growing in the horny epidermis and hairs. It is directly contagious. Ringworms of the non-hairy skin surface may be treated daily for three or four days with tincture of iodine (common brown iodine) and glycerin, equal parts. This must be stopped as soon as it sets up inflammation. Patches on the scalp must be epilated—that is, all the hairs pulled out with tweezers—or closely clipped or shaved every few days, and the same treatment applied.

Burns But Doesn't Hurt
I got sunburned, but never tanned. As soon as the preceding sunburn has disappeared I burn again, yet never seem to tan. (P. W. R.)
Answer—Probably intermittent exposure and excessive exposure. Try to follow a schedule limiting exposure to five minutes three times daily, and gradually lengthening five minutes daily.

LOOKING BACKWARD

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
Monday, August 4, 1902

Postmaster M. F. Barbeau was to attend the fifth annual convention of the National Postmasters association to be held in Milwaukee August 25 to 29. Ninety persons were served at a supper at Riverview Country club the previous Saturday.

A team of rollers from the Algoma Country club at Oakshof was defeated by a team of Riverview Country club men on the local links the previous Saturday afternoon. C. S. Dickinson made the best medal score with 78. W. C. Hewitt of Oakshof was second with an 80. Other members of the team from the local club were: O. C. Smith, R. L. Smith, John Stevens, Jr., H. G. Reeve, S. R. Kennedy, J. H. Tanton, L. Chilson, G. W. Jones, W. L. Conkey, G. F. Fisher, Hueter and Mrs. Carrie Schuldes were to entertain at a lawn party at the home of the latter on Eighth-st the following evening in honor of their guests the Misses Victoria and Lulu Schultz of Milwaukee.

While returning to Appleton with a group of other young people from Wrightstown where they had spent the day Otto Schultz was thrown from the wagon in which they were riding and was laid out.

Monday, July 30, 1917
TEN YEARS AGO

The British cruiser Ariadne had been torpedoed and sunk with a loss of 23 persons, the admiralty announced that day.

The close of the third year of the war found Germany sounding the world on peace again that day.

Miss Mabel D. Pratt of Milwaukee, a former Appleton girl and a graduate of Appleton High School, had just completed a trip from Los Angeles in a Ford and was expected to arrive in Appleton in a few days. Miss Pratt was a sister of Dr. H. K. Pratt.

Arthur Ingold, Jr., entertained a number of friends at his home on E. College-ave, the previous Saturday evening in honor of his seventeenth birthday anniversary.

A family reunion was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Robinson, 227 Outaouais-st, the previous day.

Announcement had been made of the approaching marriage of Miss Anna L. Bolm, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Bolm, 729 Lawrence, and Leonard Krick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Krick, 289 Burke-st, which was to take place the following evening at 8 o'clock at the parsonage of the Evangelical Lutheran church.

A daughter was born the previous day to County Clerk and Mrs. William F. Wolf, Union-st.

The annual picnic of the United Commercial Travelers was held the previous Saturday at Waverly beach. The committee in charge of arrangements consisted of George Linn, Max Elias, Bert Gould, George Packard and Delmar Peterson.

Couple of young men were arrested in Los Angeles for driving an airplane while intoxicated. Next thing you know somebody will be placed for making a left-hand turn around a skyscraper.

LIBRARY ADVENTURES

By Arnold Mulder

A SHIRTSLEEVES BIOGRAPHY

A magazine is publishing a serial that its anonymous author calls "a shirtsleeves history," meaning that it is informal in its treatment, not stiff and staid. That same adjective describes as well as any a very remarkable biography of Napoleon which, in spite of the fact that it contains nearly 300,000 words, has during the last month on two leaped into the columns of the best sellers, displacing most of the popular novels. It is by Emil Ludwig and is simply called "Napoleon."

"A shirtsleeves biography"—which does not mean that it is lacking in historical accuracy or in scholarship, merely that its author has refused to be solemn. He has produced a biography so fascinating, with so much "go" to it that it is true of this book, what is often said of popular novels, it is hard to lay it down. Anyone who begins it is likely to read far into the night.

The literary portraits of Napoleon have been legion. Historians and biographers have been trying their hand at the subject for a hundred years. The books about him are so many that a writer might well have hesitated before adding still another. What new thing was there to be said about the Corsican? Yet it is safe to recommend Ludwig's "Napoleon" to any reader, no matter how many biographies of the great leader he has read.

Its merit does not lie in any departure from the normal conception of Napoleon, because in the main the portrait that emerges from its pages follows the familiar outlines, but shines in many histories and biographies those outlines are stiff and "historical." In Ludwig's book they are human. A human being emerges, exactly as a human being may emerge out of those pages of a great novel by a master novelist.

Five or six years ago H. G. Wells, in his "Outline of History," sketched out a new portrait of Napoleon. In his view of the man Napoleon was not a genius, nor brave, nor great in any sense. He was a brawler and a blunderer. But that picture left too many things unexplained. Ludwig's portrait is far different. While it is informal, it is complete, taking so far as possible all facts into consideration, glossing over nothing, suppressing nothing, presenting the whole man, letting his acts and words speak for themselves, sometimes showing him as the monster that his enemies said he was, sometimes presenting him as a tenderhearted friend or husband or father, at times even as a sentimentalist.

Napoleon has left behind him some 60,000 letters, and the reader of Ludwig's biography gets the impression that a large part of the story was constructed out of those letters. Instead of paying too much attention to the writers of histories and biography Ludwig went to the source of Napoleon's acts, his own mind as revealed in letters and state papers. Nothing was too trivial for consideration. The scholarship of the book is amazing. Frequently some apparently trivial letter to a friend or a mistress throws a blinding light on the great political events that shook the world. The wonder is that the author did not get lost in his subject.

The outstanding fact about the book is that it is a biography of Napoleon's mind rather than of his body. The acts are presented but Ludwig expends most of his energies on tracing these acts to their sources, namely to the mind of the political and military genius, Napoleon. Most writers would devote whole chapters to Napoleon's important battles, describing the field of action, the tactics followed, and so on. Ludwig most of the time mentions them. On one occasion he groups five important battles in a paragraph of three and a half lines.

But he devotes whole chapters to describing what went on in the mind of Napoleon during the weeks and months that preceded the battles, knowing that without those thoughts there would have been no battles. Similarly he devotes chapters to telling the story of Napoleon's mind after the battles.

In this book you learn to know more about Napoleon, who lived a century ago than you can ever know about your dearest friend or your nearest relative.

Editor's note—This column is open to all readers of The Post-Crescent who wish to express themselves on topics of interest. Communications are invited. Contributors must sign their names, not necessarily for publication, but as an evidence of good faith.

THE SIXTH WARD PARK

Editor Post-Crescent—The Sixth ward has only one park and up to date a very little money has been spent for its upkeep or betterment in comparison to some parks in the city. At the time of the vote of a $55,000 bond issue the Sixth ward citizens were assured that their park would eventually be improved should they stand behind the issue. Now it looks as if they are going to lose part of the allotted park—it is to be used for an air park. Should this proposition go through, it might be a good idea for the people of the Sixth ward to ask for the balance of the park to be sold as it will be impossible to enter the park from the north or west due to the field being held in readiness for landing.

True, the portion referred to is unwooded, but what about the baseball diamonds? Baseball cannot be played in the woods or on the street. The park should be held together in one piece for the benefit of the people and for the safeguard of the children of the ward. An air field would work just opposite and would cause danger instead of safety.

The Sixth ward alderman has been looking out for the benefit of the third ward and Pierce's Park. Now can someone tell why the mayor and the Sixth ward alderman try to wish an air drone on to our park? Should it benefit a park it certainly would be located in the bonded, improved playground.

Should the people of the Sixth ward be interviewed, I believe they would prefer that the park be improved for park purposes and eliminate all the noise and nuisance, hangars, etc., that go in connection with an air field. Possibly our alderman who made the suggestion would like the concession running the hot dog stand in connection with the air drone.

Robert J. Monaghan,
820 N. Morrison-st.

The Question Box

Information on almost any subject can be secured by sending questions to the Post-Crescent Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, director, Washington, D. C. The bureau does not answer questions pertaining to medicine nor does it express opinions on the merits of stocks and bonds. Send a 2-cent stamp or a stamped and self-addressed envelope with your question.

Q. What can I use on an old book written in copying ink which has faded to make it stand out clearly? (H. B. H.)

A. Faded writing may be restored in the following manner: Lay the paper flat and dampen it evenly with cold water. Brush over the writing with a camel's hair brush dipped in a solution of sulphide of ammonia, and the writing will appear plain and readable. Fresh applications are necessary on ordinary writing paper.

Q. Is there as yet any exhibit at the headquarters of the American Red Cross Society depicting the recent Mississippi flood? (H. C. L.)

A. Dwight Franklin, the artist and sculptor, who has made many war and flood scenes for the Red Cross museum, has recently completed and presented to the society a model showing the overflowing Mississippi River breaking through a levee.

Q. How much cocoa butter is made in America? (E. V. E.)

A. In 1925, 35,944,000 pounds of cocoa butter were produced, valued at $10,769,000.

Q. Can Commander Byrd pilot an airplane? (H. S. C.)

A. The Navy Department says that Commander Byrd has been a qualified pilot for some years.

Q. What is meant by the siphon under the Colorado River? (C. L. R.)

A. It is a large tube of concrete steel 14 feet in diameter, placed well below the river bottom. It forms part of the irrigation scheme.

THIS HAS HAPPENED
Attempts have been made on the life of ELISE MARBURY, an American girl who owns and lives on property adjoining the queer little jungle-bordered town of PORTO VERDE, in west central Brazil.

Several mysterious deaths have occurred, but so far she has escaped harm, due to the shrewdness of her cousin and protector, VILAK, who, unfortunately as her attorney, when the name of DAVIS, Vilak is a curious mixture of American and Oriental blood and a student of criminology. He tries to persuade Elise to leave the country, leaving him there with his friend, LINCOLN NENNALLY, an elderly American chemist, to solve the mystery.

Elise at first refuses, but after her two-year-old orphaned nephew is kidnapped, to be found again by the alert Vilak, and another attempt is made on their lives, she agrees.

Her departure is prevented by the threat of floods. Messengers ride through the countryside warning the natives. Then Vilak decided to proceed to the house of one GAYLORD PRENTISS and warn him of the danger. Prentiss is a reclusive and a forbidding man, as well as an enemy of Elise's, and she suspects him of some knowledge of the conspiracy against her. Nevertheless, she agrees that it is their duty to warn him.

Vilak learns that the flood warning is a ruse to get Prentiss out of his house and persuades Prentiss to admit them. They barricade themselves in a small stone tower. Unknown attackers open fire on them. Vilak, seeing their ammunition running low, decides to dynamite the dam to the small lakes above Prentiss' place and disperse the enemy with a real flood.

NOW BEGIN THE STORY

CHAPTER XXIX
Five minutes passed. Ten minutes. A tree-fall, that strange South American animal which, like the mole, lives always underground, began its fantastic, resonant hammering beneath them. The green caterpillar which had crawled up the wall and crawled down again and vanished into the crack from which it had come.

Fifteen minutes. Shots rang out from the trees near the gate. Elise's powder-smoked lips quivered. Twenty minutes. Still no sign of the two men who had departed.

Elise rested her weary wrist. "Do you think . . . he's . . . hit?" she asked slowly.

"No . . . no . . . Er . . . no." The old man's voice expressed a cheerfulness he did not feel. "He's all right."

"Let me tie up your arm again. The bleeding's recommenced." She made the bandage tighter. As she did so, the door opened cautiously. Vilak stepped inside. His clothes were covered with mud, his face scratched with brambles.

"Bad shots," he grunted. "Or they would have had me. Moon went under for a minute. Thought I was safe but it came out in a hurry and they saw me. Fuse's lit all right."

The old man wonderingly watched him shut the door. "Where is . . . Er . . . Prentiss?"

"Went over to the house to get some thing. Said he'd be back in a minute." Once more the log thundered against the gate with an increased violence which showed that the attackers had well profited by their rest. The iron, weakened by the previous assaults, could no longer resist the tremendous blows rained upon it. It cracked explosively.

"Broken through," Vilak snapped. "The water'll have to be fast."

A torch glared along the creek, then another and another.

"Try to smoke us out, probably. Won't get them very far, when we're in this stone tower."

One torch seemed to speed through the gate. Vilak fired. The torch went out. A moment later all the torches were extinguished.

Vilak slowly glanced at his watch. "Fuse been burning seven minutes," he said placidly. "Two minutes overdue as nearly as I can calculate a unsketchy affair. Our friends are now undoubtedly crawling through the gate. If it doesn't go off soon, we'll be in trouble. Wonder what's keeping Prentiss."

He slipped a pellet of betel into his mouth and fixed his gaze upon his watch. A bit of mortar loosened by the firing dropped down upon his muddy black hair and a few of the grains fell into one of Elise's eyes. Quickly, dextrously, he began to remove them.

A flash of light colored the sky behind the house; the roar of a powerful explosion shook the ground. "There it goes," Vilak murmured.

The roar of the explosion was followed by the clatter of crashing rocks, then the steady, dull thunder of rushing water. Frightened shouts arose from the bushes at the creek; the watchers in the tower could see shadows scurrying frantically about, some

I expected," he went on. "Lake either deeper, or we started that one next to it on a little voyage, too. One thing's in our favor: the higher the water rises, the more ground it has to cover. Certainly oughtn't else much more."

They stretched out on the table, their feet overhanging the edge, the old man watching the water creep but higher and higher up the walls, Elise leaning down and trying to wash some of the powder stains from her eyes and mouth.

The water climbed half way up the table, then neared the top. The tower gave a slight quiver and a gap appeared in the stones near the foot.

Nennally let his cigarette sizzle into the water. "Don't you think . . . or . . . Vilak . . . we'd better try to depart from here? The water's still rising. And that wall seems about to . . . er . . . topple."

"Refuse to worry until it gets at least a couple of feet higher. Then we'll get out on a log or something if we have to. Water can't keep rising forever. And that's a pretty good wall and I don't think it's ready to fall. Yet, at least, I'm not going to let up insignificant crack in it until I feel my comfortable seat."

He leaned back lazily. A centipede crawled out from the under side of the table-top onto his coat. He brushed it away.

The rise of the water slackened. Soon it became stationary. It remained thus for perhaps ten minutes, then slowly began to fall. Inch by inch it crept down the walls, exposing now the black seat of a broken chair, now the tops of two iron pots standing on the floor, now with a final swish vanishing and exposing the muddy floor itself.

They climbed down from the table and, going to one of the windows, attempted to peer out to watch the retreat of the rising water. But the disappearing of the moon for the night seemed permanent, their eyes could not pierce the obscurity. They could gauge its fall somewhat, however, by the growing faintness of the murmuring eddies as they dropped lower and lower down the slight rises on which stood the house and tower.

"Wonder how Prentiss fared in all this," Vilak said. He stretched again. Elise vigorously slapped a foot which had gone to sleep; the old man shifted the bandage to curiously regard the wound.

In a quarter of an hour they were standing outside, while Vilak was flashing his electric torch on the water in the low gully which lay between the tower and the house. "Be down, enough to get across in a few minutes," he said thoughtfully. "Funny about Prentiss. Wait a little while, and if he doesn't come we'll go out to look for him."

Soon after the odd trip slushed through the mud to the house, Vilak's lantern sprayed the gloomy exterior with a white circle of light.

"Prentiss!" he shouted. There was no answer. "Prentiss! Where the devil are you?" he called again, making a megaphone of his hands to gain greater volume.

His only reply was a wolf-like howl from an alcova off in the forest. His great blond eyebrows picked.

"Funny. Mighty funny. . . Let's go inside."

They entered the desolate structure. Again they walked through crumbling living rooms, moldering bedrooms, the ruins of a kitchen. They peered into every musty cupboard and pried into every skeleton of an attic. In one hall which formed the gloomy entrance to the forlorn building were a few muddy prints, which Vilak had no difficulty in recognizing as the marks of the heavy hunting shoes Prentiss constantly wore. Beyond this there was nothing. Man and dog as well had vanished.

Prentiss has vanished and cannot be found. Vilak decides to banish one of Porto Verde's many dangers.

RUSH OF TOURISTS FROM ALL STATES INTO NORTH BEGINS

Alicia Tourist Park Handed 2,000 in First Part of Summer

Nearly 2,000 tourists have camped at Alicia park, Appleton's tourist camp, this summer. They arrived in 560 cars and spent $1,773.53 according to the expense guest cards made out by visitors at the camp. E. E. Lutz, caretaker at the camp, said a number did not make out cards as they had arrived late at night and pulled out early in the morning. Others who spent only $1 or $2 think it is not necessary and have gone away without filling out the card, he said. Probably $2,000, at least has been left with Appleton merchants and restaurants for food, gasoline, oil, clothing and products.

July was the biggest month so far this season having about one and a half times as many tourists as the two preceding months. August is predicted to be the largest of the year and the first week in September is the heaviest every season when families are returning from the north with children to enter school. About 30 cars are parked at the camp each night during the busy season. The average number of persons per car is about three and one half persons.

STAY ONE NIGHT

As a rule the campers are there for one night only, the caretaker said. Sometimes they stay for two or three days and often they come back on their return trip because they have enjoyed it at the park, he said.

The new building where plumbing facilities will be offered to the campers probably will be equipped within three weeks, it was said. The contractor has promised that the building will be finished in two weeks, and the plumbers will then do their work.

Some of the campers spent as much as $110, $85, $70 and other sums ranging from $25 to $50 while in Appleton, according to the cards. Others spent no money while at the camp.

TWO RECORDS KEPT

Two records are made out by the tourists: a police record where the number of the car, place of residence, number of persons in the car and other information is kept, and a Chamber of Commerce record where the expenses are accounted in itemized fashion and other information similar to the police record is kept. Items purchased include: gas and oil, tires, repairs, clothing, groceries, restaurants and hotels, and miscellaneous. The information is submitted to the merchants through the Chamber of Commerce at the close of the season.

Cars have camped here from North Dakota, Oklahoma, California and other western states, New York, New Jersey, and the east, as well as the middle western states.

Have You Piles

Then You Have Something to Learn

Thousands who have piles have not learned that quick and permanent relief can only be accomplished with internal medicine. Neither cutting nor any amount of treatment with ointments and suppositories will remove the cause.

Bad circulation causes piles. There is stagnation of blood circulation in the lower bowel and a weakening of the parts. Dr. J. S. Leonhardt found the remedy and called his prescription HEM-ROID. Dr. Leonhardt tried it in hundreds of cases with a marvelous record of success, such a wonderful record that HEM-ROID is now sold by druggists everywhere under a rigid money-back guarantee.

Don't waste any more time with outside applications. Get a package of HEM-ROID from Schlitz Bros. today. It has given quick and lasting relief to thousands and must do the same for you or money back.

CONGRESSWOMAN GIVES FAVORITE RECIPE FOR PRESERVING CURRANTS

THE FAVORITE RECIPES OF OUR FOUR CONGRESSWOMEN ARE OF PARTICULAR INTEREST JUST NOW BECAUSE MOST OF THEM DEAL WITH PRESERVING FRUITS. THE RECIPES THAT FOLLOW ARE THE FAVORITES OF MRS. EDITH NOURSE ROGERS OF MASSACHUSETTS, A U. S. REPRESENTATIVE. SHE PRINTED THE RECIPES WHICH ARE MOST DELICIOUS TO MRS. FLORENCE P. KAHN OF CALIFORNIA, MRS. MARY T. NORRIS OF NEW JERSEY, AND MRS. FLORENCE LANGLEY OF KENTUCKY. CLIP OUT ALL OF THEM FOR YOUR COOK BOOK.

7 pounds of currants
5 pounds of sugar
3 tablespoons of cinnamon
3 tablespoons of cloves
1 pint of vinegar

"Pick over the currants," said Mrs. Rogers, "wash, drain and remove the stems. Put in a preserving kettle, add the sugar, vinegar and spices tied in a piece of muslin. Heat to the boiling point and cook slowly one and one-half hours."

STRAWBERRY PRESERVES

Despite her prejudice against her child learning to cook Mrs. Nourse herself was a famous cook. Her best beloved recipe was one for strawberry preserves, gathered from Mrs. Lincoln's Boston Cook Book, an old standby of all New England housewives.

"Measure a bowl of berries," said Mrs. Rogers, "and the same quantity of sugar. Put in a preserving kettle over night, layer of berries and then a layer of sugar. In the morning cook slowly without stirring until the liquid is clear and the fruit soft. Skim thoroughly before putting in jars."

"These were the best strawberry preserves I ever tasted. My mother, knowing my own sweet tooth, added more sugar. But that depends, of course, upon the taste of those for whom the sweets are intended."

As a child Mrs. Edith Nourse Rogers, Congresswoman from the 5th Massachusetts district, helped her grandmother with her preserving. Her own mother preferred that her little daughter not learn to cook, but her grandmother in Maine believed that every girl's education should include a course in household arts.

The grandmother's favorite recipes included one for spiced currants. "It's an old favorite," says Mrs. Rogers, "of all New England housewives." Here it is:

THE TINYMITES

By Hal Cochran

READ THE STORY. THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

THE rabbit hopped, and hopped, and hopped for a moment stopped. It seemed to clear a dozen feet each time it took a bound. Said Scouty, "If we hang on tight, I'm sure that we will be all right. But, if we don't, we'll likely flop and land upon the ground."

"Oh, this is fun," we Carpy cried. "I really like this sort of ride. The rabbit's back is nice and soft and makes a dandy seat. He travels at a rapid gait, but, gee, if he should stand up straight I don't know just how we'd hang on. That wouldn't be so sweet."

Through the bushes large the rabbit went and about a half an hour was spent amid the trees and shrubs and such that grew on every side. "Oh, let's look for some open space," said Carpy, "I don't like this place." And then a sort of gateway, leading from the woods, was spied.

"Gee, I'm as hot as I can be," wailed Clowzy. You could plainly see that everyone felt better when they reached the open space. A fuzzy squirrel then hopped right by and Mister Rabbit winked his eye, jumped up beside the squirrel, saying, "Come, let's have a race."

The race was on, and my, what thrills. The Tynymites expected spills, but everything went nicely till the squirrel ran out of sight. He'd won the thrilling race at last! Cause he knew how to run real fast. Then Clowzy started hopping up and down, with all his might.

"I'm getting cold," he loudly cried. And then a monstrous hill was spied. "Oh, look! Oh, look!" he snapped again. "That hill is all ice cream!" The Tynymites all slid right down from Mister Rabbit to the ground. And then they raced up to the hill, with very happy scream.

IF WE WERE TO LIVE OUR LIVES OVER

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

ARE there more birthdays in summer than in winter? Statisticians would say no but it seems to me when my birthday comes around in July, every other person I meet says that it is his birthday month, too.

People born under the sign of Leo, according to the horoscope, are supposed to be impulsive and temperamental, whatever that means. But at any rate I am relieved to know that the stars are responsible for my mistake, if what the books say is true. It is comforting to have an alibi.

As the years go on I do not lay my palms smugly together and say, "If I had it all to do over again, I should do precisely the same things. I am well content."

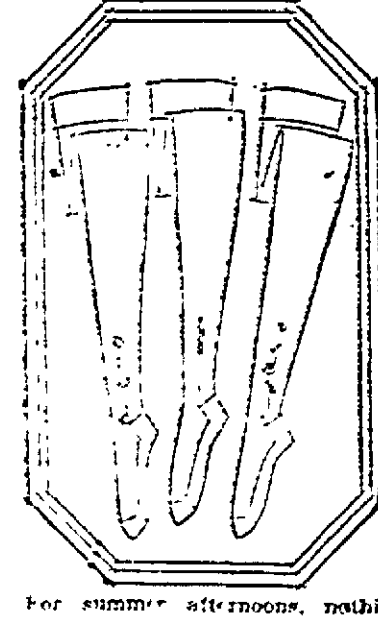

I agree with Thomas Moore, if you can learn with me for a moment what I am feeling at a birthday. The speaker of the words are the links of a chain, light at first, golden in youth and heavy in old age. "When we are young," says the poet, "it is a pastime to grow old. It is a pastime to grow old." So Thomas winds up his ode thus:

"Vain was the man and vain, a vain who said, 'We have declined to run His long career of life again. He would do all that he did once. With our knowledge of life and people, none of us would do the same things again. Without that knowledge possibly we would. At least we would play time to time, the chances are we have done the best we could under the circumstances."

But with my knowledge what would I do? I don't know. I might be a poet, but I don't know. I might be a poet, but I don't know.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY SISTER MARY

BREAKFAST—Grape fruit, crisp broiled bacon, scrambled eggs, bran muffins, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEONS—Timbales of ham and rice, toasted muffins, fruit salad, coconut crisps, milk, tea.

DINNER—Broiled lamb chops, carrot cups filled with green peas, banana and rice salad, peach shortcake, milk, coffee.

Timbales of ham and rice suggest an attractive way to use up bits of left-over ham. It's often real economy to buy a whole ham and if every bit, even the scraps around the bone can be used, little waste need be calculated.

TIMBALES OF HAM AND RICE

One cup finely chopped cold cooked ham, 1/2 cup cold boiled rice, 1/2 cup soft bread crumbs, 2 eggs, 1 cup milk, 1/8 teaspoon pepper, 1 tablespoon parsley.

Combine bread crumbs with rice. Add milk and let stand fifteen minutes. Beat to make a smooth batter. Add ham, pepper, parsley and eggs well beaten. Mix thoroughly and turn into well buttered ramikins. Bake thirty minutes. Turn out of molds and serve on a hot platter, garnished with sprigs of crisp parsley.

If ramikins are not at hand custard cups or muffins pans can be used. (Copyright, 1927, NEA Service, Inc.)

GILDA GOES NATIVE AGAIN IN HER PICTURE, "DEVIL DANCER"

GILDA GRAY EXPRESSING IT FOR HER NEW FILM, "THE DEVIL DANCER."

BY GENE COHN

NEA Service Writer

New York—Gilda Gray has decided to "go native" again, and after all the public associates Gilda with shrouded wheat skirts. Her first picture plunge, "Aloma of the South Seas" was vastly successful. It harvested as heavy a crop of shekels as any picture of its particular season. It caused Paramount her contract holder, to arch an interested eyebrow. It put Gilda quite on top of the world. It caused other producers to beseege this potential gold mine, and Samuel Goldwyn finally got her for his United Artists unit.

Goldwyn cast her as the nun in a picture version of "Mona Vanna," but this was quickly dropped and now Gilda is ready to star in "The Devil Dancer," in which she is cast as an alluring native girl. This in a measure, is a test of whether Gilda was an accidental hit in "Aloma" or whether she will definitely catch on if properly cast.

Lhasa, of course, is the setting. In this Tibetan vatican of great gilded roofs and red walls are staged the most lavish ceremonies. The temples are cluttered with fearsome and nightmarish statues of devils—all of which should give the undulant Gilda rare opportunities for a dance which, she says, will be done on the screen for the first time.

SAINT AND SINNER

"On what grounds will he sue for divorce?" Faith demanded indignantly, while her arms instinctively strained Cherry's baby to her breast. "Oh, my dear, for your own sake, try to keep the baby away from us—yours!" she added, with a moan.

"Churchill says he's going to sue on the grounds of desertion and claim custody of the baby on the plea that I am—unfit," Cherry told her dreamily. "He plans to use the evidence that Banning brought out against me during the trial. Oh, Faith, can he?"

"Of course he can't!" Faith retorted vehemently. "He would have to prove that your conduct since your marriage has been such as to make you unfit to rear the baby. And you know he can't do that. Don't cry so, darling. Bob will know what to do."

"I'm going to see Churchill!" Cherry announced, raising her flushed, tear-wet face to stare at Faith with wild, defiant eyes. "He's got to fight—fight!"

The thought flashed across Faith's mind that fighting in the courts was terribly expensive, and that Cherry had no money—Poor Bob! What had she let him in for?

Cherry whirled through her dressing, stopping twice to press a quick, passionate kiss upon the tiny, contented face of her baby as it nestled in Faith's arms.

"You don't mind looking after Midget for me, do you, darling?" she asked coaxingly.

"Of course not!" Faith reproached her. "But you'll try to be back before dinner, won't you? You know this is Thursday and Mrs. Lunly won't be back, so I'll have to be cooking tonight."

WRINKLES IN FOREHEAD MAY BE IRONED OUT

BY MME. ANNE GERARDE

DISFIGURING creases across the forehead indicate worry, weak eyes, or bad habit of talking too much with your eyebrows. Try to eliminate the causes. Two exercises will do much to eliminate these creases.

First, dip the first two fingers of both hands in skin food and by a wringing motion loosen the skin thoroughly over the whole forehead. Keep your thumbs against temples for support.

Second, now iron out the wrinkles in the following manner: Beginning at the center of your forehead, press your fingers tight and draw them slowly but very firmly out towards the temples. Lift fingers and repeat until you are tired.

INDIAN WOMEN EAGER TO HAVE HAIR MARCELLED

BY NEA Service
MILWAUKEE, WIS.—Bobbied hair, marcelled, manures, 'lipstick and all the rest of the beauty-parlor specialties are being adopted by women of the Sioux Indian tribe.

From the Sioux reservation has come Miss Mary Shangreau, full-blooded Indian girl who is matron of the reservation school, to take a course in beauty culture so that she may go back an dmake modern flappers out of the straight-haired and unpainted Sioux girls.

For centuries the women had left all frivolity in dress and make-up to the Indian braves, but the styles followed by their white sisters made them so envious that 150 students in the school petitioned authorities to allow them to bob their hair and use beauty aids. This was done and now the potential flappers eagerly await the graduation of Miss Shangreau so she may give them everything from facials to permanent waves.

25 Moose
Spend Day
At Rally

Twenty-five Appleton Moose and their families attended the picnic of the Fox River Valley Mooseheart Legion Sunday at Cedar Lake near West Bend, which was held in conjunction with the picnic of the West Bend Order of Moose. About 400 Moose members and their families from the valley attended.

The picnic opened at 10 o'clock Sunday morning with games and contests for the children. A band concert was played by the West Bend Moose band in the morning and afternoon, and dancing furnished entertainment for the evening.

A class of 52 candidates from West Bend, Fond du Lac and Oshkosh was initiated into the Valley Legion at the frolic which was held from 2 to 6 o'clock. Mr. Morrow of Baltimore, Md. was a guest at the frolic and picnic and gave an address.

Members of the legion from Green Bay, Kaukauna, Appleton, Oshkosh, Fond du Lac, Sheboygan, Clintonville, and West Bend attended the frolic.

BASEBALL GAME IS FEATURE OF
CHURCH PICNIC

The single men's team, captained by Roy Duffner won a baseball game from the married men of Trinity English Lutheran church at the church picnic Sunday at Pierce park. The score was 20 to 19. Fred Ernst was captain of the married men's team.

About 300 persons attended the picnic. One of the features of entertainment for the women was a slipper kicking contest which was won by Mrs. John Duval. A tug-of-war between the women and men of the congregation was won by the men's side captained by Rudolph Breitung. Other entertainment included games and races for the children, including running and egg races. A refreshment stand was conducted by the Brotherhood of the church. Children of the Sunday school were provided with free tickets for refreshments.

Committees in charge of arrangements were: Refreshments; Otto Tilly, Gustave Tesch, Fred Ernst and Edward Deichen; games, George Knoke and transportation, Alvin Krabbe.

C. K. W. ARRANGE
VALLEY PICNIC

Plans to attend the picnic for all branches of Catholic Knights of Wisconsin in the Fox River Valley will be discussed at the regular meeting of the Appleton branch at 7:30 Tuesday evening in St. Joseph hall. Other regular business is scheduled.

The picnic will be held Aug. 21 at Kline park at Kaukauna. All branches of the order in the vicinity of Appleton will be invited to attend. M. J. Blick of Appleton is general chairman of arrangements.

How To Play Bridge

By Milton C. Work

The pointer for today is: IN CONTRACT THERE IS A DIFFERENCE OF OPINION CONCERNING SLAM BIDDING: BE SURE YOU UNDERSTAND YOUR PARTNER'S THEORIES.

There are two general bidding methods by which Contract players reach the dizzy heights of slams. One is by showing their strength by convention at Bridge bids; the other is by introducing certain bids with special and unbridled meanings after the declaration has been "set," that is, after there has been an apparent "meeting of the minds" of the two partners. The declaration is "set" (with a meaning quite foreign to that of "set" in Bridge) when partners have agreed upon the best declaration. Bridge conventions are then thrown to the winds and further bids are accorded a special slam meaning. After a suit has been "set," bidding some other suit is supposed to show either the Ace of that suit, or no cards of it.

When partners actually have slam material and the special bidding scheme works out successfully, the result is most beautifully thrilling and satisfactory; but only too frequently, due to some misunderstanding of the bids or to the fact that the information encourages the slam hunters to aim too high, disaster attends those who are trying for the high premiums.

AUCTION BRIDGE BIDDING
This week's Auction Bridge tests and contests will be upon bidding. A hand will be given each day until Friday, the answers on the succeeding day. Each day there will be a slip on which the answers should be entered. Twenty questions will be asked during the week. See how near you can come to twenty correct answers and get your friends to compete with you.

GREENSPON PETITION
AGAIN IS REJECTED

W. Wisconsin-ave from Richmond to Morrison-sts will remain a residential district, according to the recommendation to be made by the city planning commission to the city council at its meeting Wednesday night. A petition was presented to the council at a recent meeting by Carl Behnke, attorney for I. Greenspon, owner of property on the street, that these seven blocks be made a local business district. The council referred the matter to the planning commission.

Previous petitions from Mr. Greenspon had been rejected by the council and plan commission on the ground there is no need for a local business district in that section of the city.

KAUKAUNA CUBS BLANK CHILTON IN SUNDAY TILT

Mereness Allows Only Four Hits and Strikes Out Ten Batters

Kaukauna — The Kaukauna Cubs applied the whitewash brush to Chilton Sunday afternoon in the local ball park and won by a 3 to 0 score. It was the second time this season that the Cubs trimmed the Chilton aggregation.

Scores for the Cubs were made in the first, sixth and eighth innings and in the meantime Chilton was having a hard time solving the slants of Mereness.

Kaukauna's first score in the initial inning came when Miller, first up, walked and was pushed across the plate by a sacrifice hit, a safe hit and another sacrifice.

The sixth inning brought the next score after two were out when Hishon walked and scored on singles by Mereness and Johnson. A single and a double brought the score in the eighth inning. Hishon getting on with a single and scoring on Mereness double.

Mereness, pitching for Kaukauna, hurled good ball but airtight support on the part of his mates saved him any unnecessary exertion. The Kaws had 12 assists during the game and handled each one perfectly, no errors being chalked against them. Four hits was all Chilton could get off Mereness and he struck out ten men.

Kronke, pitching for Chilton, twirled good ball though he allowed ten hits. Ability to keep the wallopers well scattered except in the last inning accounted for the low score. Nine Kaukauna batters retired via the strike out route. Three errors were counted against the Chilton aggregation.

SHORT CHANGE TRICK FAILS IN KAUKAUNA

Kaukauna — A man giving his name as Ralph Wiese and connected with a carnival at Little Chute was ordered out of town after he had admitted to Officer John Hald that he had tried a trick on two local stores. The man first entered the store of H. Nielsen and after making a purchase of a package of cigarettes handed the clerk a $10 bill. He then tried to confuse the clerk by tendering a bill of smaller denomination and asking for change for that instead.

After failing to accomplish the stunt at Nielsen's the man left and went to another store. In the meantime Officer Hald had been called and followed Wiese while he attempted to repeat the trick. Officer Hald took the man into custody and got from him an admission as to what he was trying to do. Wiese pleaded he was drunk and as no technical offense had been committed to he was told to get out of town.

FRANCE STILL COLLECTS FROM WAR PROFITEERS

Paris — ("War profits" are still furnishing France with a steady income, nearly nine years after the war. Nearly 2,000,000 francs a day pour into the coffers of Premier and Minister of Finance Raymond Poincare.

This is money the government is recovering from contractors who "salted" their bills for munitions, as the French say, and also the taxes the various get-rich-quick merchants failed to pay.

Ever since the armistice parliamentary commissions, courts and special tribunals and accountants have been going over every war contract and the books of many business firms.

You hesitate to generalize, to draw rapid conclusions, to state as certainties what are later all only surmises or guesses.

For instance, I suppose there is no greater problem connected with Germany than this. Has she become really permanently a republic, or is that only temporary and will monarchy come back?

ANSWERS ALL UNEXPECTED. Every time I go to Germany on business I talk with all sorts and conditions of German people in the endeavor to answer the riddle. I can't answer it. I can't even begin to answer it. I would say it was far more hazardous betting, proposition than gambling on the races. When you go to the race track, you at least have in your possession the "form" of the horses, their birth, breeding and past performances. But there is no "form" on Germany. The country was never a republic before.

I sit in a dining car. Opposite me is a prosperous looking German, who might be either a big business man or a Prussian farmer on a large scale—one of the Junker class. I open up the inevitable problem, and expect to hear him say the monarchy is sure to come back. He assures me that Germany is done with the monarchy forever, at the same time hastening to say he has no sympathy with either the Socialists or the Communists.

My neighbor in the movies is a chap who looks as if he might be a highly skilled and paid workman. I say to myself he is either a member of the Social Democratic party or a left wing of the Catholic Church. To my surprise, he assures me that the republic will not last and that the people are sure to turn back to a monarch when the time is ripe.

THREE FRENCHMEN CROSS SAHARA ON MOTORCYCLES

Paris — ("Motorcycles have completed successfully with camels in crossing the Sahara. Three Frenchmen—Bruneteau, Weerens and Gemie—have been given all the honors due pioneers and explorers for their 5,000 mile trip from Casablanca south to Omdurman on the Dakar, through Timbuctoo, over the sands—previously traversed by the camel only.

The sand tourists were a month making the whole trip, in 26 stages. They rode into Paris on the machines they rode out.

The events of the next five or ten years may harden it in one direction or the other. What the former Allies and the world in general do to Germany, what success German industry will have in giving employment to its industrial millions and once more restoring something like a measure of general prosperity and well being; these are the factors that will largely decide whether Germany will go back to a monarchy like England or remain a republic like France.

MORE CLOTHES WORN BY ACTORS ON PARIS STAGE

Paris — ("More clothes are being worn on the stage this year. The far-famed Folies-Bergere and other music halls still save a lot of cloth on the costumes of some of their prize beauties, but they no longer boycott the textile mills entirely, as they did a few years ago. It isn't a vicious streak that has cropped out in the show business, but rather a swing from the extreme of nakedness. There was such a sameness about the many show girls and the many shows, all after foreign money, that the excitement began to wear off. The police also suggested some months ago that if the theatres went any further south of the blue laws would be dusted off and put to work.

Consequently beautiful costumes and startling scenery and stage mechanics were tried and have proved popular.

FARMERS URGED TO HELP THEMSELVES IN SHIPPING CLUBS

Producers Can Get Better
Prices by Cooperation, Pic-nickers Told

BY W. F. WINSEY

Seymour—A large crowd attended the picnic given by the Seymour local of the American Society of Equity, in the grove owned by Edward Wendt, route 5, Sunday afternoon. The picnic consisted of a talk on cooperative marketing of livestock by J. J. Lamb, Fond du Lac, president of the Equity Livestock Sales' Association, Milwaukee, cow calling contest, peanut race, tug-of-war between women and a game of baseball.

So perfect, so appealing and yet so different from the others was the calling of each of the expert cow callers that if mullets, shorthorns and longhorns had been pasturing near, one type would have been charmed by the notes of one caller, and another type by the familiar notes of another expert. If the decision could have been left to three kinds of cows each contestant would have been declared the winner, but as no cows showed up William Vanhande was declared the winner by human judges. Other contestants that were entitled to rewards or at least honorable mention were August Birkhoff and August Voelka.

MISS TIMMERS WINS
Sally Timmers won the peanut race, closely followed by Gertrude Timmers and Esther H. Wendt.

The tug-of-war was won by a team composed of Mrs. Phyllis Eick, Mrs. William Hurst, Mrs. Louis Eick, Mrs. Fred Blohm, Mrs. William Philipp and Mrs. Robert Duesch. In the losing team were Mrs. Edward Wendt, Mrs. George Lembecke, Mrs. George Arnoldson, Mrs. Robert Gosse, Mrs. George Peotter, and Mrs. William Miller.

Fred Blohm acted as starter in the contests and William Hurst was organizer of the baseball teams. "The Equity Livestock Sales Association increased its business by 285 cars over a year ago," said Mr. Lamb. "When the association gets the bulk of the livestock business that goes into the terminals the producers will get better prices than they get now."

"The dairy producers of the state of New York have already accomplished what the livestock sales organization and the Wisconsin Cheese Producers' federation are trying to do."

LEGISLATIVE HELP
"The legislature of New York took the initiative in making it possible for the dairymen to form cooperative marketing organizations among the producers. With this assistance the dairymen organized and now control the prices that the producers set and the consumer has to pay. They reduced the consumer's price from 10 to 15 per cent and raised the selling price of producers from 20 and 25 per cent."

"The dairymen of New York did these things six or seven years ago. Their method was to cut out duplication of effort in the handling and distribution of milk. Before the farmers asserted themselves, the big distributors of milk would send their delivery outfits in customers scattered far and wide over the city and at great distances from each other. Under the cooperative method, the city was divided into compact milk delivering districts and each milkman might be assigned to one of these districts. In this way distance was shortened and time and cost of delivery was saved as one milkman delivered to each family living in his district."

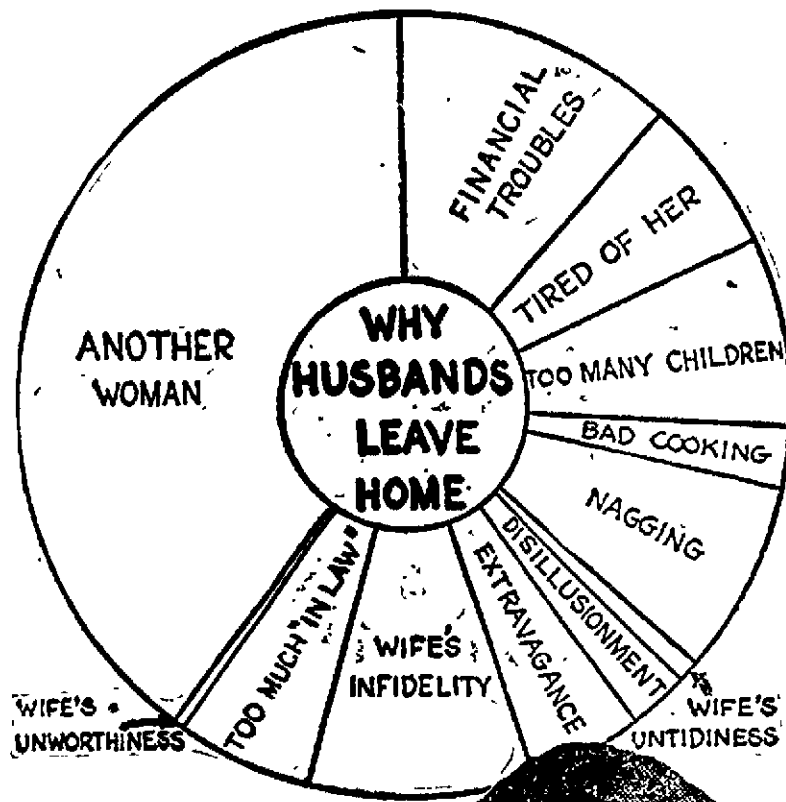

"To protect consumers, standards of sanitation and quality of milk were raised so that no consumer would lose or gain in a change of milkmen."

"If all shippers of livestock would ship through their own local cooperative shipping association, the Equity Livestock Sales Association would soon become a factor in the fixing of prices and making other improvements. But some producers do not do that."

"The thing for members of the equity to do is to show their loyalty by shipping through their regular shipping association. At the terminal, the prices are the same whether the shipment is made by a dealer or by a cooperative shipping association."

"The big packers by buying in centers where livestock is produced on a large scale and having the agent of only one packing company in each of

"Another Woman" Is Greatest Reason For Unfaithful Hubby

BY ROY J. GIBBONS

Chicago—If you want to know why husbands occasionally walk out on their lawfully wedded wives and break the conjugal bonds without the assistance of a divorce court, listen to Miss Irene Inderrieden, who has been studying this interesting subject for twelve years.

Miss Inderrieden is director of the city's Social Service Bureau, a branch of the Court of Domestic Relations. This bureau handles on an average some 50,000 cases yearly—cases where husbands have fled and must be coerced or forced into resuming the marital bonds. So she knows her subject.

LISTS TWELVE REASONS
There are, she says, approximately twelve reasons for wife-desertion. She doesn't think much of any of them, and says:

"To date, no husband has given me a first-class excuse, forthright and capable of standing on its hind legs and looking the world square in the eye."

She adds, however, that in a good 50 per cent of the cases friend wife is pretty much to blame, when the husband departs.

She has prepared a little table, setting forth her conclusions as to wife desertion. She has it all worked out on a percentage basis, and it reads as follows:

Another woman—41 per cent.
Financial troubles—12 per cent.
Tired of her—6 per cent.
Too many children—8 per cent.
Bad cooking—2 per cent.
Nagging—3 per cent.
Wife's untidiness—1/4 of 1 per cent.
Disillusionment—3 per cent.
Extravagance—4 per cent.
Wife's infidelity—10 per cent.
Too much "in law"—7 per cent.
Wife's unworthiness—1/4 of 1 per cent.

She has found out other little things about wandering husbands, too.

More husbands leave home in the summer than at any other time, she says.

Furthermore, a husband is more apt to desert on a holiday, when he is at home and pressed by annoying little home problems, than he is on any other day when work keeps him away from the house.

Wives with temperamental husbands these centers, presumably to prevent competition in buying, have lately depressed the hog market and caused a loss to producers of hogs that is estimated by the producers at $500,000. Buying livestock at shipping points where it is produced and leaving a minimum of buyers at the terminals to compete in buying and fix prices in competition, can be regulated by the federal government only."

FORMER RULER OF ELKS SPEAKER AT STATE CONVENTION

South Dakota Man on Program for Address at Jubilee Conference

Wausau — (AP) — One of the most prominent members of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks in this country, James G. McFarland, of Watertown, S. D., past grand exalted ruler of the organization, is to address delegates and visitors to the silver jubilee celebration of the Wisconsin Elks association here Thursday.

Several past exalted rulers of the state association are planning to attend the three days' session and among these, Otto Roenius of Wisconsin Rapids and Judge John Karel of Milwaukee are to deliver addresses. Roenius will talk on Thursday and Judge Karel will address the convention on Friday noon at the Elks' luncheon.

Two separate programs, for ladies and men, have been arranged by the local committees. Both are filled with talks, addresses and entertainments. The convention proper will open Thursday night with a ritualistic service in the Elks lodge rooms. Delegates and visitors will register at the club all day Thursday. The opening ceremony will be Thursday evening with an address by President Harry A. Kiefer to be given out-of-doors. The picnic has been invited.

Gold and trap shooting tournaments start Friday morning. Hundreds have sent in applications to take part in the various events. Music will fill the air during the three days' session with bands and drum corps from several cities vying for popularity.

Following the parade Saturday afternoon, prizes will be awarded the best band, drum corps and the lodge having the largest membership in the parade. Cabaret entertainment and dinner dances will feature the three days and nights of the well balanced program.

Theatre parties, receptions, luncheons, card games, sight-seeing trips and dances are among the plans made for the ladies attending the convention.

"BEAU GESTE" TRULY
GREAT CINEMA PLAY

Beau Geste" has arrived in Appleton. Gay, young, courageous "Beau" and his brothers bringing smiles, romance, thrills and a few tears to audience at Fischer's Appleton Theatre.

"Beau Geste" is worth the fortune Paramount poured into its filming. It is worth the months spent by Herbert Brenon and two thousand men among the scorched sand dunes of the Great American Desert.

This story of the French Foreign Legion, breathes an immortal flame that any director might forfeit his life to obtain. The action hinges on the YET, for all her close acquaintance with marital debacles, Miss Inderrieden is thoroughly in favor of marriage as an institution. She recommends it heartily to anyone "with nerve and common sense enough to try it. She does not say which of these qualities is most desirable.

CALLS FOR FACT
"Marriage is and always will be a going concern," she says. "It will always pay big dividends to those who are willing to enter it with the ideals of fair play and the determination to make a go of it."

"Marriage takes plenty of diplomacy, a good deal of charity and considerable tact if it is to succeed. If more married people would be a bit more willing to turn the other cheek instead of demanding an eye for an eye in their disagreements, things would be a lot more pleasant."

"And fewer husbands would leave home."

wonderful devotion of three young Englishmen, each of whom decamps from home in order that the blame for the theft of a famous sapphire may fall on him although he believes one of his brothers to be guilty.

By common impulse all enlist in the Foreign Legion. Two find themselves at an isolated Sahara fort which must meet an Arab attack with only 40 defenders. The sheer fearlessness of these wonderful soldiers in their pitifully brave defense adds to the drama of the story.

Ronald Colman as "Beau" gives a portrayal which many are sure to place above his wonderful work in "The White Sister," the picture that started him toward the commanding place in the screen world he now holds. No more romantic figure has ever flashed across the screen.

Rivaling Colman are Neil Hamilton and Ralph Forbes, the other two brothers. A magnificent character is brought to life by Noah Beery as "the cruellest man and bravest soldier" in the Legion.

Acting honors also belong to all the others on the long list of players — to William Powell, Alice Joyce, Mary Brian, Norman Trevor and the rest. Few pictures in the history of the screen have contained so many marvelous characterization opportunities.

Full credit belongs to Herbert Brenon, a man whose tremendous energy and fine artistic ability are evident in the delicate shading of each scene and great sweep of the whole story.

Paramount's "Beau Geste" is a great picture—dramatically, pictorially and entertainingly.

"Beau Geste," Paramount's great picture, was given a pre-public showing at Fischer's Appleton theatre Saturday and was declared by reviewers to be one of the most gripping and heart-rending pictures of the year. It starts out with a drama that makes one hold on to the chair in which he is sitting, then goes back many years and explains the scene, and the third portion of the picture carries the first scene to a conclusion.

The picture was filmed in the Great American desert in Arizona and its life, like to the most minute detail. Two thousand western horsemen and cowboys impersonate the fierce Touareg tribesmen that sweep across the Sahara like a scorching tongue of flame, to wipe out the whole band of foreign Legionnaires men that defended the last outpost of civilization.

"Beau Geste" can easily be placed in the class of those great pictures which are now counted among the screen's masterpieces: "Intolerance," "The Birth of a Nation," "Way Down East," and "The Big Parade."

SENIOR GAMES

APPLETON 10, OSHKOSH 9.
Neenah 6, Green Bay 3.
Kimberly 7, Menasha 2.

ASHMAN'S triple to deep center in the last half of the ninth inning, with two down, two men on the sacks and two scores needed to win, gave Appleton a 10-9 victory Sunday afternoon at Brandt park in a hectic battle with Oshkosh, a game in which most of the thrills known to baseball were included. The win shaved the local nine above the Sawdust City men into third place, a game and a half from second, Neenah upset all hope by beating Green Bay and Kimberly whipped Menasha to increase its lead on the top over the Baymen.

Each team started strong scoring four in the opening frame, but Oshkosh added three in the third to one for Appleton and Reflike was yanked for Sternagle. Appleton caught up gradually, but every time the local men approached Oshkosh, the Sawdusters would take advantage of an Appleton error to hold a run lead. That was that until the final half of the ninth, after Gosh's error with two away in the eighth had given Oshkosh a single run lead from a tie.

Featuring the Appleton play was the batting of Van Wyck. Ashman, Furlinger and Brautigan, the fielding of Brautigan and Eggert and the hurling of Sternagle. Van was the big hero, piling three hits and three runs in five trips up and Brauty two in four. Beside the latter had four put outs and four assists, once picking a man off the sack on a throw from Reflike and twice catching would-be pitchers. The first came just before a home run and saved Appleton a run.

Eggert, trying first base for the first time here, fielded faultlessly making 12 putouts without an error and an assist, several times taking extra hard throws while still holding the sack. He showed a good eye at bat with three walks in five trips up and once stung the pill hard. Sternagle went in with the score 7- against him and allowed Oshkosh but three hits in six frames and three scores with the help of errors.

Felker opened the first frame with a single past Schultz and he came all the way home when Pochojka singled to center. Van Wyck overran the ball coming in for it and the batter took second. Reflike picked him off a moment later on a peg to Brauty. Bixby homered over the left field wall and Hackbarth and Hartman singled to right after Wilson had gone out. Both scored when Weed tripled to deep left and then Schultz filed in. Appleton evened things when Baetz singled to right and took second when Wilson fumbled the ball. Schultz moved Baetz to third with a single and he scored when Tornow slammed into a double play. With two down Van Wyck dropped a homer over the left field wall. Brautigan singled to left and went to third on Furlinger's double to the same field. Eggert walked filling the sacks. Both Furlinger and Brauty scored on Ashman's single to center. Ashman and Eggert, who had taken second, tried a double steal, but the latter was caught at third.

Felker walked for Oshkosh with one down and was caught at second on a fielder's choice. Appleton losing a double play by a step. Eggert held the ball and when the batter stepped off the sack, tagged him, but Umpire Block had turned his back on the base after calling the play on the hit and failed to see it. Reflike beat out a slow

Base on balls, off Reflike, 1 in 3; off Sternagle, 2 in 6; off Gietzen, 5 in 9; Hits, off Reflike, 9 in 3; off Sternagle, 3 in 6; off Gietzen 14 in 9. Winning pitcher—Sternagle; Stolen bases—Van Wyck; Hit by pitcher, Reflike. Hartman and Schultz; Wild pitch, Sternagle. Gietzen. Passed ball—Felker. Sacrifices—Baetz (2), Ashman, Sternagle, Pochojka, Bixby. Double plays—Brautigan to Eggert; Hackbarth to Hartman to Weed. Umpires—Wickert and Black. Time of game, 2:30.

roller to second by a hard sprint in the local half and took the base on a sacrifice but Schultz popped and Tornow fanned.

Wilson opened the Oshkosh third with a single to center and took third on Hackbarth's double to the same place. Hartman was hit by Reflike, filling the sacks with no outs. Weed singled to right and three men scored when Baetz held the ball too long on the third runner. Ashman picked it off and pegged second to catch Weed down. Brauty taking the play.

THIRD AD ASHMAN falls before Reflike, then hit Schultz, but he was caught stealing second. Ashman to Eggert to Brauty.

Appleton got one back when Van Wyck singled, stole second and scored on Brauty's single. Brauty was out trying to make second on the throw-in.

Neither team scored in the fourth, though Ashman singled and advanced two bases on a wild pitch and passed ball. However, two men fanned and another filed out behind him. In the fifth Appleton pulled up a run when Van Wyck clouted his homer to deep center. Each team added one in the sixth. Gietzen got a life on Schultz's error and took second on Felker's single. Pochojka sacrificed both men along and Bixby scored Gietzen on a long sacrifice fly to right field. Baetz pegged wide to the plate in an attempt to get a double play. Wilson grounded out. In Appleton's half Eggert walked and took third when Sternagle slapped a long double along the right field foul line. Baetz lofted a long fly to right to score Eggert.

In the seventh Appleton pulled a neat double play, when Brauty took a hopper from Weed's bat, stepped on second base and got the runner at first also in spite of interference by the man going second. Gosha's error gave Oshkosh another in the eighth. After Sternagle had fanned two foes, Gosha threw the ball over Eggert's head on Felker's hit. He had just replaced Brauty. Felker took third on a wild pitch and scored on Pochojka's single over second.

Umpire Wickert had been hit by a pitched ball in the seventh and after calling Brauty out on a bad strike and being grandly "razed" by the fans in a frame, in which he had not fully recovered, he turned the plate job over to Block.

Appleton scored without a hit in the eighth when Furlinger got a life on Hackbarth's error. Eggert bunted and both men were safe on Felker's misplay in his anxiety to field the bunt. Ashman sacrificed them, and then Sternagle scored Furlinger with a sacrifice fly to right. Baetz and Schultz walked, filling the sacks, and it looked like curtains for Oshkosh but Tornow lofted to center.

In the ninth Oshkosh went out 1-2-3 and took the field holding a 2-8 lead, helped by Gosha's error. Van Wyck

KIMBERLY WHIPS MENASHA BALLERS

Cookemen Increase Lead on First Place by Tripping Pails, 7-3

Kimberly—Kimberly tightened its grip on first place in the Fox River Valley League by coming through with its tenth win, trimming Menasha 7-3, Sunday afternoon on the local diamond. The victory put Kimberly a game and a half in the lead, as the threatening Green Bay Sox were set back by Neenah.

With the score 2-0 in Kimberly's favor, Menasha rallied in the first of the seventh. With the bases full, J. Weisgerber, third baseman, clouted the pill to left field, clearing the bases, while he reached second. Then Kimberly evened things up and brought in two extra in their half of the same session.

Kimberly brought in its first two runs in the second frame when H. Thein spanked the pill out to the left field wall for a two bagger. Cooke hit to the pitcher, who fumbled, and reached first safely while Thein went to third and came home on the first baseman's error. Cooke stole second, went to third on a wild pitch and came in with the second run when R. Smith singled to center field.

Both teams went scoreless until the seventh when Menasha scored in three runs.

In Kimberly's half, H. Thein singled to right field. Cooke singled to right. Thein reached third, and came home when the ball was thrown back to first to nip Cooke. M. Lamers doubled to center field and Cooke came in. Lamers reached third when R. Smith hit to the third baseman, who fumbled. T. Lamers hit to the first baseman and M. Lamers scored.

In the eighth, Hartjes singled, and Cooke and Hartjes scored to bring Kimberly's total to seven.

Next Saturday afternoon the local squad battles Oshkosh here.

BANKERS, LEGION PLAY THURSDAY GAME MONDAY

The Bankers and American Legion squads of the City Twilight League were to clash Monday afternoon in a loop battle moved up from Thursday. A postponed game probably will be played on the Thursday date. The final regular games will be played this week and next week probably will be used to play off all postponed tilts as at least two will have an important bearing on the loop banner. At present the Lateralikes hold first place, just a game ahead of the Legion and Badger. Printers and all three have two games left.

went out on an infield play and Oshkosh fans rejoiced to get him out of the way. Gosha fanned and the game looked about over. Furlinger stopped the stampede toward the gates slightly with a single over second and the crowd halted once more as Eggert walked. The last ball looked good to Felker and after racing at Umpire Block he dropped his mask and mit and quit. Umpire Jensen replaced him. A moment later the game was over for the third Gietzen dropped one in Ashman's alley and Rod hit almost to center field fence, both runners scoring to win the game and the batter pulling up at third as the center fielder tripped going after the pill.

Kimberly—Kimberly tightened its grip on first place in the Fox River Valley League by coming through with its tenth win, trimming Menasha 7-3, Sunday afternoon on the local diamond. The victory put Kimberly a game and a half in the lead, as the threatening Green Bay Sox were set back by Neenah.

GIANTS FIGHT WAY INTO LEAGUE RAGE

Take Fourth of Five from Champ Cards; Cubs Half-game from Top

They are still waiting for one of the National League leaders to crack but the first day of August found the object of three making way for another serious contender, the Giants. While the Pittsburgh Pirates were idle Sunday, the Chicago Cubs moved to within a half game of the leadership. The Mc Carthy Bruins slammed the ball to all corners of Wrigley field and downed Philadelphia, 12-5. Charlie Root bung up his eighteenth pitching victory of the year.

The Giants by trimming the Cardinals before a Sunday crowd of 25,000 made it four out of five games for the road trip to date. McGraw's club put on a typical late inning rally to beat the Red Birds, 7-4.

When the Cincinnati Reds broke even in a double header with Brooklyn they ran their winning mark to 16 victories in the last 20 starts. Cincinnati kept a half game ahead of the Dodgers. The Ohioans took the opener 6-2 and dropped the second 3-2 in 10 innings. Horace Lisenbee set back the Detroit Tigers, 7-2, in the only game played in the American League. Washington pounded three Detroit pitchers for 10 hits while Lisenbee was holding the opposition to 5 safeties. It was the third straight victory for the Senators over Detroit.

The Yankees were halted by rain and will play a double header with Cleveland Monday.

Eagles Stage Title Go For Milwaukee Sessions

Milwaukee—It is some time since a world's champion appeared in a boxing match in Milwaukee. It is a certainty that when Joe Dundee, champion welter-weight champion of the world appears here on Aug. 11, under the patronage of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, he will be welcomed by one of the biggest crowds that ever attended a contest in Wisconsin. Dundee will battle 10 rounds, with Pinky Mitchell, former junior welter-weight champion.

They will meet at the baseball park during the convention of the Eagles, when it is expected that fully 100,000 visitors will be here. Mitchell can make a name for himself by scoring a knockout and that is what he is going to try to do, although it is a big undertaking.

These boys met in Philadelphia over two years ago and fought one of the best contests of Mitchell's career. Dundee was given the shade, but the judges were not unanimous on the verdict, one of them voting for Mitchell and even the papers were divided as to the result. However, Dundee is champion now and Mitchell contender, so it is up to the latter to set the pace.

Harry McLogan, one of the big chiefs of the Eagles, has his heart set on breaking all records for such a contest in Wisconsin.

"I am sure," said Mr. McLogan, "that with our 25,000 members and such a big delegation of visitors that we will be able to pack Athletic Park on August 11. It is my ambition to set a new record in Wisconsin and for that reason I have insisted upon the top price being $5.00. That will give every one a chance to attend the contest."

"We have received applications for tickets from many outside towns and I am certain the record will be broken here. It is not only for the Eagles to do everything in their power to push this thing along, but for everyone in the state who has a bit of sporting blood in their veins."

In addition to the wind-up between the champion and former champion, the club has arranged for some very good preliminaries. Howard Bentz, the pride of Ritchie Mitchell, will appear in the semi-final against Jack Heinemann, also of Milwaukee, at 160 pounds. Heinemann recently knocked out Washie Hendrick at Oshkosh and fought an even battle with Warrick Smith in Oklahoma.

There will be two very good preliminaries in addition. Tickets are on sale at numerous places in Milwaukee and outsiders can be accommodated by wiring or addressing Mr. McLogan at the Eagle Club, Milwaukee.

OSHKOSH GOLFERS FEATURE PLAY IN NORTHEAST MEET

Clayton Wall Wins Title by Whipping M. Harrison in Final, 3 and 1

Oshkosh golfers "hogged" most of the honors in the 1927 tournament of the Northeastern Wisconsin Golf association which closed Saturday at the Sawdust city. Playing on the home course, the Oshkosh linkers took the major championship and two of the other four flight championships as well as furnishing four runners-up in five flights. Appleton golfers failed to "show," though Ken Dickinson was eliminated in the semi-finals of the championship flight by Clayton Wall, who latter took the 1927 title, replacing the local man as champ.

Wall took the title on the final few holes from Montgomery Harrison, a fellow resident of Oshkosh and Atlanta, Ga., open champ. Wall won 3 and 1 after the pair had been tied most of the way. On the sixteenth Wall lead 2 and 3 and he took the seventeenth when Harrison drove in to rough and found it impossible to recover. Wall played a good game while Harrison's putting was bery his usual game.

In the second flight T. H. Richardson, Oshkosh, beat M. A. Carroll, Oshkosh for the title, 2 and 1; in the third R. S. MacNeil, Oshkosh, trimmed P. Schils Sheboygan, 4 and 2; in the fourth

H. Glaser, Fond du Lac, tripped C. E. Whitnack, Oshkosh, in the most exciting match of the day on the twentieth green; and in the fifth, W. L. Dewitt, Oconto, whipped Carleton Foster, Oshkosh, 1 up.

Records were established by Miss Norellus in the free style test (12:47 3-5), and Miss Geraghty, who won the breast stroke event (3:28 2-5).

Miss Norellus came through with the individual all around championship for the second time. She scored 20 points.

Walter Spence of Brooklyn broke a universal long course record with 1:55 4-5 for the 150-metres in a time trial and Miss Adelaide Lambert won an invitation 110-yard back-stroke in 1:28 2-5, thereby clipping four seconds off the listed standard.

RECORDS FALL IN MAJOR SWIM MEET

Norelius, Geraghty Break Women's Marks; Spence Features for Men

Massapequa, N. Y.—(AP)—Records in all the swimming fixtures were broken during the four-day National A. A. U. Senior Aquatic championships which closed Sunday. Members of the Women's Swimming association won every event held and scored 86 of the 95 points.

Sunday's victors included Miss Martha Norelius, who won her fourth contest with the 380-yard free style swim, Miss Helen Meany, who added the high fancy diving crown to the spring board title, and Miss Agnes Geraghty, who captured the 220-yard breast stroke fixture.

"I got the idea from Florenz Ziegfeld"

Behind the scenes at the Ziegfeld Theatre Gladys Glad is remarking to Flo Kennedy between acts of the Follies.

Florenz Ziegfeld, famous theatrical producer, writes:

"As the producer of 'The Ziegfeld Follies' I know full well how important it is for my stars to have clear voices at all times. Several years ago, when I first began to smoke Lucky Strikes, I noticed that my voice remained untroubled after a most strenuous time directing rehearsals. I passed this information on to my stars and now we are all agreed: Lucky Strike is a delightful smoke and most assuredly protects the voice, eliminating any coughing, which often interrupts a perfect performance."

Florenz Ziegfeld

You, too, will find that Lucky Strikes are mild and mellow—the finest cigarettes you ever smoked, made of the finest Turkish and domestic tobaccos, properly aged and blended with great skill, and there is an extra process—"It's toasted"—no harshness, not a bit of bite.

Purple Gridders Face Toughest Pigskin Card

Evanson, Ill.—Northwestern's grid eleven will be called upon to face the toughest schedule in the history of the school this fall. Not only does the Purple team meet the strongest foe in the Big Ten but the arrangement of the games causes Coach Hankley's boys to face such opposition as Ohio, Illinois and Missouri on successive week-ends at the beginning of the season.

South Dakota will open the fall campaign at Dyche stadium on Oct. 1. The boys from the northwest have been opening the football season at Northwestern for a number of years and always put up a tough record. Then comes Utah on Oct. 8. This team was one of the strongest in the far west last year and will be a formidable opponent for an early season game.

Ohio with one of the strongest teams in recent years, will entertain the Wildcats at the reference game at Columbus on Oct. 15. Backing up

110 GOLFERS TEE OFF TUESDAY FOR 2ND QUALIFY PLAY

Southern State Stars, Including Many Past Title Flight Men, Start Play

Fifty five pairs, or 110 golfers from the southern part of Wisconsin will tee off Tuesday in the second qualifying round of the 1927 tournament of the Wisconsin State Golf association at the Butte des Morts Country club. The first pair, Roy Carroll of Milwaukee and Clyde Fishion, a strong contender, of Tuckaway club, Milwaukee, will tee off at 8 o'clock and the final pair will tee off at 1 o'clock in the afternoon, just an hour after the last pair of the Monday qualifying round which included golfers of Appleton and northern Wisconsin. The last pair Tuesday is C. A. Bauman of Jefferson and Milo Sorenson, Racine.

Cities represented in Tuesday's qualifying play are Milwaukee, Madison, Kenosha, Racine, Watertown, Wausau, Delafield, Jefferson and Oconomowoc. Included are at least a dozen championship flight players, of previous meets as well as semi-finalists, finalists and champions. Most prominent are Fishion, "the Lehman brothers of Racine," T. C. ## ARMOUR GETTING CASH

TOMMY ARMOUR AND WALTER HAGEN.

An American open championship is worth at least $50,000 to the winner, the experts say, provided he gets it. Tommy Armour, who holds that title now, is out to get it.

Assisted by Walter Hagen, who happens to be quite experienced in such matters, Armour is now playing a series of exhibition matches throughout the nation at an estimated price of $250 or more a match. He is expected to realize more than $50,000 on the title won at Oakmont a few weeks ago.

Former Champion Dubs Golf Meets "No Fun"

BY JIMMY POWERS

New York—Jesse Sweetser, former British and American amateur champion, is through with tournament golf—not for this season alone but for all time.

One of the game's most belligerent and spectacular stars has finally decided definitely to follow the example of another great player, Miss Joyce Wethered, former women's champion of Great Britain.

This writer, missing Jess at the U. S. open at Oakmont and hearing that despite his recovery from his illness and the fact that he was shooting well in minor meets, journeyed up to Siwanoy and stumbled on an eyebrow-raising yarn.

Remember the Harvard football star who caused such a fuss when he exploded the grid sport and said it might be all the world to its mother but it was just a pain in the neck to him?

Well, here is Jess scoring modern golf, sorrowfully quitting the competitive field he once loved so well because it has degenerated from a pastime to a grim, blood-and-flesh business.

"You fellows who play for the fun of it do not realize how lucky you are," Jess explains. "You cannot begin to imagine the strain of championship golf. You go out for a friendly foursome or foursome and, with a few exceptions, all is laughter and conversation. That is as it should be.

"If you have a new club, you try it out during the match. If it fails you, you have done little to injure your reputation as a golfer. It is just another shot gone wrong.

"You may lose the hole as the result but it is unlikely there will be any headlines in the newspapers about it next day.

UTILITY INFILDER WAIVED FROM MAJOR

Robertson, Star Reserve, Lost to A. A. Though Needed

BY BILLY EVANS

With ball players of major league caliber mighty scarce, I have often marveled how highly capable performers are allowed to drift to the minors.

I have in mind Gene Robertson, who for the past six years has played utility infield roles for the St. Louis Browns with great credit.

For some reason waivers were asked on Robertson last winter. How all the major league clubs waived on him is beyond me, but apparently they did, and Robertson was sent to St. Paul in the American Association.

The other day I had a chat with four members of the staff of umpires of that league and when I asked them who was the best ball player in the organization there came the unanimous reply:

Gene Robertson.

In all probability some big league club will be paying $25,000 or upwards this winter to acquire his services for another shot at the majors. His passing will always remain a mystery to me.

BROWNS HALTED NATS

Based on a funny old game in that it so often refuses to run true to the advance word and past performance chart.

When the Washington club recently invaded the west for its second tour of that end of the circuit, the team had a winning streak of 10 straight games that was finally shattered by the Yankees.

Playing Cleveland first in the west, Washington returned to its winning ways by taking six straight from the Indians, then came one out of three from Detroit and four out of five from Chicago.

With only St. Louis to be visited and the Browns playing poorly, the Nationals seemed certain to return home with the best road record in years.

Then came the unexpected, three straight defeats at the hands of the lowly Browns, who had just been trimmed four straight by New York.

To make matters worse, two pitchers discarded by Washington, Crowder and Ballou, scored two of the three wins.

Simply proving there are no soft spots in a major league schedule no matter how poorly a certain club may be playing.

What part does a ball park play in the making of .300 or better batting averages? On the surface, that may sound like a rather foolish question, yet in reality it is a most logical one.

American League ball players are agreed that the Chicago park is the most difficult one in the circuit in that it tends to gather base hits.

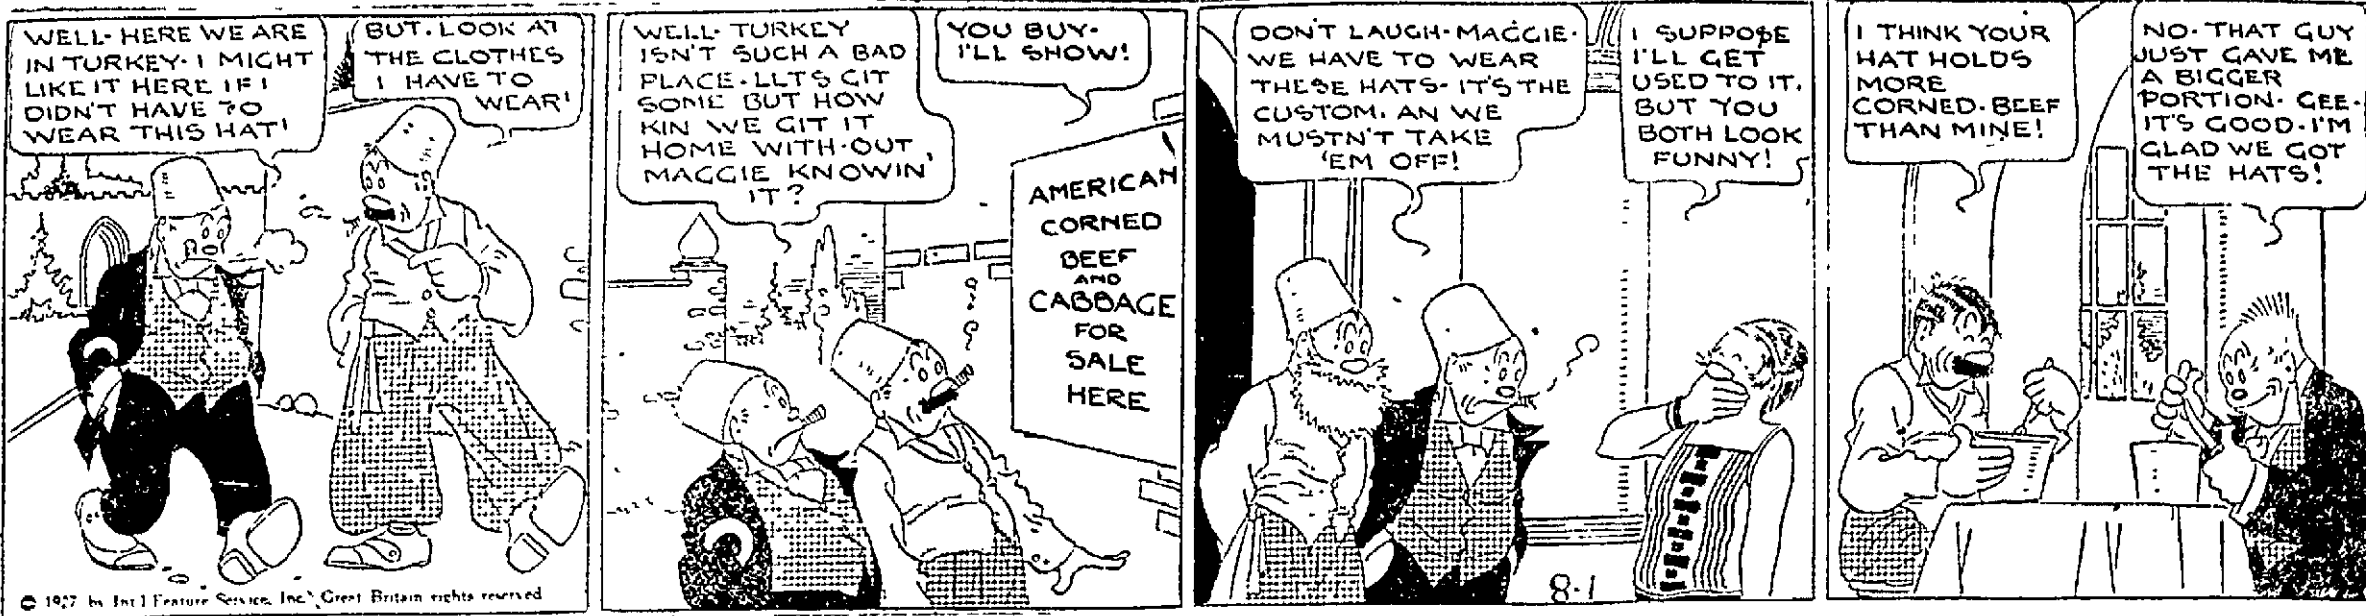

While the park is an excellent one to see on, there is always a stiff wind blowing in from center field. This, of course, gives an added advantage to

Capture That Haunting Air

THE other day you heard it whistled on the street. . . . Someone was humming it at the party. . . . And ever since, it's been running through your head like the insistent memory of a $10 touch.

"Yes, it goes something like this. . . ." Come in and get it off your mind. Ten to one we can spot it. And the next minute you'll be hearing that elusive melody, splendidly reproduced on an Orthophonic Victrola. What's more, you'll have your eyes opened to the astonishing realism of these splendid instruments. Come in—today—and let us play you the latest Victor Records on the instrument you like best.

JACK LOCKWILL IN THE WOODS

The declining sun was low above the treetops when Willie Darling, carrying a fishing rod and a can of worms, crept cautiously down to the stream that was filling the spring woods with its gurgling, splashing music. "Whoops!" whispered Willie, stopping to bait up. "Got to be trout here! I'll show whether I can catch fish or not!" Dropping in, he had a strike at once.

With a squeal of joy, Willie "derricked out" a speckled beauty that weighed at least a pound. "Told 'em I'd catch a mess for supper!" he cried.

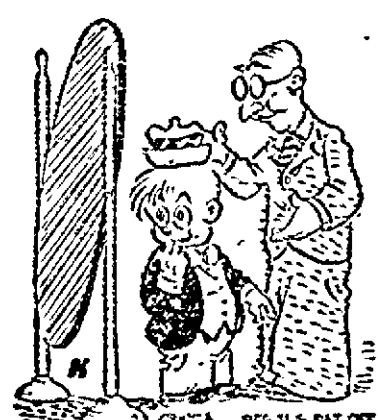

Mosquitoes assembled and hummed around the young angler's ears, and they bit even oftener than the fish. Willie finally hooked the daddy of the pool. After an exciting struggle, he swung the big fellow over his head. Behind him, he felt a jerk at the line. Whirling round, he was startled and astounded to see the fish clutched in the paws of a huge shaggy beast—a bear!

THE NUT CRACKER

RICKARD, Tunney and Dempsey say the fight was fair. Now listen here, folks, these are honest men and their testimony is unbiased. They stand to make only $1,000,000 by saying so.

At that, you're got to give Dempsey some credit. He hit Sharkey to hard somewhere south of the center the Fighting Fonograph couldn't say "I" for ten minutes.

Doctor invents "speed" for race horses. That's great. It will enable the near-sighted ones to get on to distinguish the sixteenth pole from the finish line.

Now if some great artist will depict out-matched crumfs for the jockeys everything will be O. K.

FORMER LOCAL WOMAN ATTACKED BY BURGLAR

Special to Post-Crescent.
New London—Friends here have received word of the serious condition of Mrs. E. M. Worby of Oshkosh, as the result of a recent attack upon her by a man who had entered the Worby home during the family's absence. Mrs. Worby had returned home about 9:30 in the evening after a two days absence. Mrs. Worby and son entering the house while Mr. Worby drove the car into the garage. Mrs. Worby found the door unlocked. Going into the living room she turned on the electric light and saw a man crouching behind the library table. She turned to flee the stranger grasped with her and attempted to choke her. Mr. Worby heard her screams for help and ran to her assistance. The stranger escaped from the house but was later traced to his home by neighbors. Harry Searvis who resides on High street in Oshkosh has been arrested and is being held. He is charged with an attempt at burglary.

LAWMAKERS LIBERAL WITH STATE'S MONEY

Normal School Appropriations Exceed Recommendations by Million

Madison—(AP)—The legislature raised the appropriations recommended for normal schools of Wisconsin, $1,039,000 over the amounts recommended by the joint finance committee of the two houses, C. G. Brough, secretary of the state board of public affairs, revealed Monday.

The increases were given to five schools, Superior, Oshkosh, La Crosse, Milwaukee and Stevens Point.

The financial representatives of the assembly recommended $41,835 for the LaCrosse State Teachers college. To this the legislature added $235,000 for a dormitory building. The dormitory bill, however, had previously been approved by the finance committee. In a separate measure, for only $200,000. The legislature killed this bill and gave the school the amount it asked of the finance committee—$235,000.

The teachers college at Milwaukee would have received $25,910 for operation and upkeep if the finance committee's recommendations had been carried out. But the senate added an appropriation of $100,000 for a heating plant and instead of following the figure suggested by the finance committee—$150,000 for a gymnasium gave $235,000 for the athletic training building, making an addition of $335,000 to the finance committee's suggestion.

Amendments to the normal school bill gave the Oshkosh school $235,000 in addition to the $175,925 recommended by the finance group. The additional amount was for an auditorium.

Stevens Point normal's appropriation would have been $106,250 had not the assembly added $44,000 for a new heating plant. The recommendation had been that the heating plant be remodelled at a cost of $21,000 but the assembly put in an amendment to the bill giving $65,000 for an entirely new plant.

Superior's appropriation was $44,872 as the bill came from the committee room. The legislature added $130,000 for a new library building.

The additions made the bill for a total appropriation of $5,157,759.

GOVERNOR SIGNS TWO ST. PAUL RAIL BILLS

Madison — (AP)—Governor Zimmerman has signed the second of the two "St. Paul railroad" bills reestablishing the railroad corporation laws as they were before the reorganization of the railroad, early this year.

The legislature passed one bill, which was approved by the governor, allowing the St. Paul railroad to reorganize in this state without paying the heavy incorporation fees a new company would be charged. This was done following a petition of the railroad officials in view of the fact that the stockholders were practically the same persons before and after the reorganization.

When Governor Zimmerman approved the bill he suggested that the legislature pass another measure returning the law to its former status. The bill signed does just that.

Members of the Lynwood Womans club of south Lind and their families attended at Silver lake, near Wild Rose Wednesday.

Miss D. V. Clarke, who has been spending the past few weeks in West Branch, Mich., with her mother, Mrs. James Husted and other relatives, returned home Tuesday.

HARVEST TREE CROP IN STATE PARK NEAR SUMMER WHITE HOUSE

Cut Enough Timber to Build 2,000 6-room Cottages Each Year

Rapid City, S. D. —(AP)— Around the summer home of President Coolidge the annual Black Hills timber harvest is in progress.

The state park where the president is vacationing, and all the forested country for miles around it are encompassed in federal forest preserves where timber may be cut only under federal supervision. But enough lumber is taken each year in the hills to build 2,000 six-room frame bungalows, and half a hundred sawmills are kept busy in the harvest.

So successful has been the program of forest conservation in the region where the president is a guest that lumbering goes on without despoliation of timber resources. For 30 years trees have been cut down only in proportion to annual replacement by growth of others, and while lumber for 2,000 bungalows is being harvested, enough is growing to build 3,000 more.

TREES ARE RUSHED

Foresters accompany all logging crews and mark the trees which are to be cut down. Decayed or dying trees and those broken by storms are marked first for removal. Others are cut on mountainides where spruce and pine growth is congested, so that the sturdiest trees will have room to grow.

Where forests have been thinned out, the land is leased for livestock grazing and some 40,000 head of cattle and horses and 20,000 sheep find pasture there each summer.

Prevention of fires is an important task of the federal forestry service, and hazards have been increased so greatly by this summer's tourist influx airplane patrols have been added to the force of fire watchers.

Lookouts are stationed on five high peaks including Harney Peak and Mt. Coolidge, with telephone intercommunication. Each mountain community has its volunteer forest fire department. Railroads through the forest preserves must burn off instead of coal to minimize fire hazards.

Forest fires in the hills average 52 a year, less than half of them due to human carelessness. Lightning accounts for most of the rest. Last year a conflagration near the president's summer home burned over 10,000 acres, but the average area lost to flames each year is only 365 acres.

Superior —(AP)—While holding a family reunion picnic at the Cumberland tourist park Saturday, Miss Mabel Jacobson, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Knute Jacobson, of Dallas, Wis., was drowned. It is thought that Miss Jacobson stepped into a drop off became frightened and before help could reach her was drowned. There was a crowd of children in the water at the same time so Miss Jacobson's struggle was not noticed until too late to save her. Her body was taken from the water about half hour after death. Beside her parents at the picnic there were Mr. and Mrs. Jacobson and family, of Iowa, uncle of the dead girl, and Mr. and Mrs. John Halvorsen, Dallas.

BREAKS NECK IN FALL

Superior —(AP)—A 24 hour search for Hans Hawkins, 72, South Range, Wis., farmer, ended at noon Sunday when the man was found dead, pitched head foremost into a six-foot depression. He had been picking berries and his neck was broken when he sprang into the depression, covered with berry bushes. A police dog owned by Frank Carlson, Superior, found the man.

FRENCH STILL TROUBLED BY CONFEDERATE MONEY

Paris —(AP)— Confederate money still passes at par in many towns of France.

Those who have made a living by circulating the obsolete banknotes seldom bother Paris merchants but now and then comes a report of a flood of $50 and $100 bills. In Versailles recently a woman had a number of the almost worthless bills exchanged for good French money.

Americans frequently offer their own money in payment at hotels and large stores, and French merchants see nothing unusual in the offer of such currency. Gradually however they are coming to know regular United States money through seeing it in the windows of Foreign Exchange banks.

LIVING HERO PAYS TRIBUTE TO THE DEAD

A visit to the "Eternal Light," New York's Fifth Avenue memorial to World War dead, was the last found event of Commander Richard E. Byrd's home-coming. Here are Byrd, Bert Acosta and Clarence Chamberlin standing at salute at the Light as The Star Spangled Banner is played.

ARREST WOMEN AND MEN IN MANITOWOC-CO RAIDS

Manitowoc —(AP)— Another raid in the clean-up of Manitowoc-CO road houses and resorts was staged Saturday night when authorities under leadership of District Attorney Edmund Meyer closed four resorts, took six women and a number of men into custody. It is reported that nuisance proceedings will be instituted against owners of two places which had previously been raided and reopened in spite of warnings.

ANNULS OLD DECREE TO SAVE PARIS LIBRARIAN

Paris —(AP)— An old forgotten decree had to be set aside by President Doumergue to legalize the appointment of Roland Marcel, librarian of the National Library. Marcel was about to be ousted on a technicality after three years' service.

A clause in an order issued in 1846 provides that at least one in three of the chiefs of the library be a graduate of the government school at Chartres. Marcel is not from Chartres, nor were two predecessors. Two rivals discovered the old rule, and the Council of State ordered the appointment cancelled.

Edouard Herriot, Minister of Public Instruction and Fine Arts, solved the problem by asking President Doumergue to annul the old decree and reappoint Marcel.

HIGHER PRICES MARK OPENING OF MARKET

Several Stocks Show New High Records but United Steel Shows Loss

HIGHER PRICES MARK

New York —(AP)— Stock prices opened irregularly higher at the opening of Monday's market. Atchafalaya, Northern Pacific and Norfolk and Western opened at new high records. United States Steel common showed an opening loss of half a point.

Penny money rates were generally given as the back ground for the current advance in the week-end summaries of the leading commission houses. United States Steel common, which enjoyed a brisk advance last week, fell back more than a point on realizing. DuPont quickly jumped six points to a new peak at 23 1/2. Speculative interest in the industrial was confined at the start to the motors and the oils. Hudson, Chrysler and Mack Trucks were the early leaders. Foreign exchanges opened steadily with demand sterling around $4.85-4.86 and French francs around 3.21 1/2 cents.

The outlook for a large expansion of autumn business in many industries and evidence of the reduced floating supply of numerous shares enabled the constructive interests to supply advanced six points and Nickel Plate, Baldwin, International and Western and International Nickel 2 to 2 1/2. The renewal rate for standing loans was unchanged at four per cent.

The closing was strong. Total sales approximated 2,900,000 shares.

SPOKANE ALL READY FOR NATIONAL RACE LATE IN SEPTEMBER

Cream of Nation's Fliers Will Compete in Transcontinental Derby

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Washington—Fifty years from now, it may be an ordinary thing to see flying grandstands, each carrying a few thousand spectators, so skidding along at a couple of hundred miles an hour in the wake of the annual non-stop round the world air race.

The Kentucky Derby will then be a small's pace curiosity for the children and the 50-mile auto classic at Indianapolis will be a curiosity kept going out of sentiment for the old folks who stick to primitive enjoyments in keeping with the dull pleasures their senility and hardened arteries will be able to stand.

Today, however, the first national coast-to-coast air derby is attracting attention as something new in sporting events.

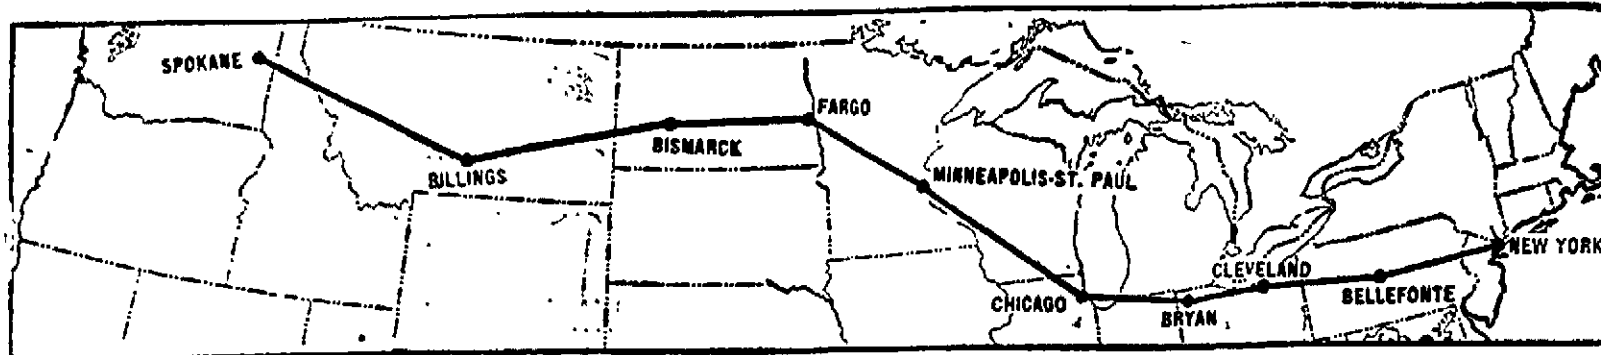

Late in September, when trans-oceanic flights have lost some of their novelty, the cry of the nation's airmen will be: "On to Spokane!"

The greatest aerial symphony in American history is expected and an unprecedented number of planes will go scotching across the continent in a national air derby, to start from New York, Sept. 19. A second race will be run from San Francisco, starting Sept. 21, both events winding up in Spokane.

PRECEDENT NATIONAL AIR RACES

Nearly $50,000 in prizes have been put up for the distance flights and the shorter races at Spokane which will follow the long hops. Flying bleachers and grandstand have of course not been perfected, but that will not prevent spectators from forming a line from coast to coast and rubbering free of charge, as the race goes over head.

The national air races are annual events. This year they will be held in Spokane. The air derby from New York to the northwestern metropolis, however, will be the first transcontinental race limited to commercial airplanes. It will also be the first cross-country air race of any kind since 1919. All the elements needed for a big thrill are therefore provided. Meeting certain conditions, the first fliers to reach Spokane from New York in the shortest elapsed flying time will win the prize money, of which there is plenty. Entrant planes are divided into two classes, A and B. The largest planes in Class A must have seats for at least two passengers and the pilot. The small planes in Class B must seat at least one passenger and pilot.

PLENTY OF PRIZES
The grand prize is the Class A first prize of $10,000. The next four prizes are $5,000, $3,000, $1,000 and $500. In Class B prizes are $5,000, $3,000, $1,000, $500 and $250.

The rules prohibit the racing of freak or experimental planes, so that the big derby will be a test of the planes which are actually being used or are about to be used for commercial air traffic today.

Entries in the San Francisco-Spokane Derby are similarly classed with a total of $3,000 in prizes.

On top of all that, there will be $15,000 and some valuable trophies to be won at Spokane during the two days of the national contests for all types of planes. These Spokane races will be run off Sept. 23-24.

LINDY INVITED
The Spokane air port has a capacity of 300 planes and the finest of airmen as well as the speediest of craft will be there. It is hoped that some of the trans-oceanic fliers will enter the derby or other phases of competition, according to officials of the National Aeronautic association here, which is co-operating. Lindbergh's itinerary takes him to Spokane in September and he has received an invitation to enter the derby.

The big Class-A race will start from Roosevelt Field, L. I., Tuesday morning, Sept. 20, at 5 a. m., eastern standard time.

All planes will be required to land and stop for not less than five minutes at Cleveland and a similar stop must be made at Chicago. The third leg will take the races to St. Paul, terminus for the first day's flying and the official overnight stop.

WILL START EARLY
Five a. m. will be the starting time from St. Paul on Wednesday, with subsequent five-minute stops at Aberdeen, S. D., Miles City, Mont., and Butte. The final leg will take the planes to Spokane.

The stopping cities will be known as control stations, but intermediate fields where gas and oil will be obtainable have been designated at Bellefonte, Pa., Bryan, O., La Crosse, Wis., Lemmon, S. D., and Billings and Missoula, Mont. Ships will not be allowed to leave a control station if it is decided they can't make the next station before dark.

Planes arriving at Spokane after 6 p. m. Pacific coast time, on Sept. 24, will not be eligible for prize money.

SMALLER PLANES GO FIRST
The Class B race will start Sept. 19 from Roosevelt Field under somewhat different regulations and with less widely separated control stations.

"The order of all winning planes, announces the National Air Derby association, "will be determined by the planes making the shortest total elapsed time from zero starting hours to the time wheels touch the ground for landings at control stations where planes will stay overnight, and to the time the wheels touch ground for landing at Spokane Air Port."

Air mail pilots are expected to figure prominently among the entries. All pilots will be commercial pilots or private owner pilots. Army and navy fliers will therefore be barred.

Spokane raised the money and made the plans for the great aerial derby in order to "sell" the country on advantages of an air-mail route to the northwest. Spokane wants the air mail route which now stops at St. Paul extended another 1700 miles to the northwest coast, where she has her splendid airport just aching for it.

RADIO SENDING SET HAS LONGER RANGE

New Dirigible's Radio Will Have 2,500 Mile Transmitting Radius

Washington—The radio transmitting set on the new $5,000,000 dirigible being built in Akron for the United States Navy is going to cover a range of 2,500 miles.

This is the greatest dependable coverage yet specified for an aircraft radio transmitter. The powerful set built for installation on the ill-fated Shenandoah had only a possible transmission range of 100 miles.

WEIGHS 500 POUNDS
The radio equipment on this 6,500,000-cubic-foot airship, according to design data outlined by the Naval Bureau of Aeronautics, "may be assumed to weigh 500 pounds, and to occupy 150 cubic feet. The largest dimension exclusive of compass coils, will not exceed 6 feet. The radio compartment is considered to require approximately 1000 cubic feet."

In addition to transmitting and receiving equipment, a radio direction-finder is specified as a requisite on this monster of the air. The radio compass or direction-finder on aircraft is of even greater significance than formerly because of the network of aircraft radio beacons that are being established to guide airplanes through fog and darkness.

GREAT EFFICIENCY
The transmitter will doubtless operate at high frequencies. Such an outfit is practically the only type that can meet the right requirement of a dependable range of 2,500 miles day and night and under all kinds of adverse conditions.

If the transmitting set on the new $5,000,000 airship meets the exacting requirement of a distance range of 2,500 miles, it will prove of greater efficiency than any broadcasting station
